Relief May Be Unexpected Municipal Burden Five Men Die In Motor Car Stalled In Snow As Storm Sweeps Regina District

Government Aid to Municipalities Is Chiefly For Wages

Municipalities Notified to Amend Relief Work Programmes Already Submitted; Saanich Council Pleaded Its Proposals Include Little Purchased Material; City Considers Its Position; Prospects of Greater Contribution by Municipalities Than First Expected.

Prospects of B.C. municipalities which sought unemployment relief under the federal act passed at the special session this week that the relief fund coming from the government is to be used primarily for the payment of wages. In construction works the material forms approximately fifty per cent of the total cost so that municipalities under the ruling just issued, will probably have to pay a sum amounting to about seventy-five per cent of the cost instead of fifty per cent.

The public works committee of the City Council met this morning to consider the situation, and the Saanich Council yesterday evening had the matter under discussion.

Municipalities have been informed of the position in the following message from Patrick Philip, Deputy Minister of Public Works for British Columbia:

"Government contribution to unemployment relief is primarily for payment of wages. Only applicable to approved purchase of materials which are not an integral part of the completed work. Power shovel work and major bridge construction not subject to contribution. Proposals already made to be amended by wire if possible."

Police Hunt For Bandit Who Robbed Street Car

Burnaby Officers Aided By Vancouver Police in Effort to Find Gunman Who Surprised Motorman-conductor

By Canadian Press
Vancouver, Oct. 17.—Vancouver and Burnaby police today were searching for two bandits who robbed a B.C. Electric motorman-conductor of a sum of money while he was changing the trolley of his car at the line's terminus, and two other robbers who invaded the homes of families.

Attacked by two gunmen at the corner of Hastings Street and Blenheim Avenue, Burnaby, Adam Taylor of Vancouver, B.C.E.R. conductor, was robbed of $45 shortly after midnight, he reported to the Burnaby police.

Edward Mitchell, Dunlevy Avenue, was robbed of $500 by a lone thug, who invaded his home shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, he reported to city police.

Factory Explosion In Los Angeles Is Blamed On Plot

Detectives Find Evidence Gas Had Been Purposely Accumulated; Blast Follows Labor Troubles

Los Angeles, Oct. 17.—District Attorney's detectives, after investigating an explosion which injured more than forty persons in the Garment Capital Building here today, united in the opinion the fifth and sixth floors "had been loaded" with a heavier than air gas in a planned explosion.

Only one person was reported critically injured.

NO BODIES FOUND
The blast wrecked the building about 7:30 a.m. The resultant fire was under complete control an hour and a half later. The shattered steel and concrete structure was an eleven-story one.

Officially the loss was set by fire officials at $1,000,000 to the wrecked building, while three other nearby manufacturing structures suffered heavy losses. Windows were shattered for blocks around.

TAKEN TO HOSPITALS
By 9 o'clock forty persons had been taken to the police emergency hospital for treatment for cuts and burns. Several others had been taken to other hospitals, but no fatalities had been found.

Hyndman Schulman, forty-six, garment manufacturer, was the most seriously hurt. He suffered burns on the head, face, hands and legs.

The blast occurred in the rooms of the Beverly Hills Flocks Inc. on the fifth floor, where police said there had been labor trouble consequent to a strike a month ago. They expressed the belief it had been caused by an accumulation of gas and continued investigating the manner in which it was exploded. At first it was reported the gas had been ignited when a Mexican youth, employed in the shop, lighted a cigarette.

ON STRIKE FOR WEEKS
A strike of the International Garment Workers' Union had been in progress for seven weeks and police intelligence officers had been watching the Garment Capital Building for two weeks, Captain William J. Hynes of the police "Red" squad disclosed today.

Captain Hynes testified here today before the Congressional committee investigating Communist activities in the United States concerning moves of local Communist leaders in this strike. Fifty-nine firms were affected by the strike and sixteen firms were operating at present on the open shop basis, five of which were located in the damaged building.

THREE KILLED IN COLLISION

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 17.—Two mail trains of the Big Four Railroad smashed head-on in this city early today, killing three men of their crews and injuring four others.

Through some mixup, a westbound train, departing for St. Louis, was on the same track as another train coming into the station from the division yards at Linndale. They collided rounding a curve near the Fulton Road Bridge.

Engineer Henry Sproule of the eastbound train and Fireman Charles Gaff, thirty-five, and Conductor Jerry Dickson, fifty, of the westbound train, were killed. All were of Cleveland, Engineer Frank McCarthy of the westbound train and Fireman Clarence Sheffield, thirty-five, of the eastbound train, Cleveland men, were seriously scalded. #### Storm Signals Up For Easterly Gale; Cold Spell, Accompanied By Snow, in Interior

With the weather all over the province showing a marked difference to that at the corresponding time last year, Victoria, from 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon to 11 o'clock this morning, had experienced 1.77 inches of rain, according to figures released by F. Napier Denison of the Gonzales Meteorological Observatory to-day.

SNOW UP-ISLAND

Snow fell yesterday afternoon at one or two up-island points. Motorists who came into town yesterday from Sooke reported a sharp fall all along the Sooke Road to Colwood. At times the drivers were forced to clear the windshield, the fall being heavy enough to stop automatic wipers. Driving out from Colwood, the motorists reported that the snow began to melt, and in Victoria rain alone was encountered.

Saanich was blanketed with snow early this morning. The fall commenced late yesterday evening, and continued till an early hour this morning. Two inches fell at Royal Oak, and further north the fall became heavier, being estimated at six inches around Brentwood.

The weather map indicates a great storm centred off Vancouver Island. Over the northern part of the Province it is decidedly cold and will be colder. Temperatures that in some places reach zero and conditions that approach blizzard proportions are prevalent over an area extending from the coast to the interior.

SERIOUS WITH CITY

While it was stated Sanich would not be greatly affected by the ruling because it does not have to purchase gravel, the city will be placed in a different position, it is understood. Road work included in the city's relief programme would necessitate the use of certain materials which approximate about half the cost of construction. It is the contribution of the two governments would only make up fifty per cent of the remaining cost of twenty-five per cent of the total cost. Whether or not this will limit the city's programme, the extent of which has not yet been announced, could not be determined to-day. Probably it will be brought up at next Monday's meeting of the council.

Throughout negotiations on unemployment relief under which municipal proposals have been based, it was understood that the cost of relief works would be borne on a fifty-twenty-five, twenty-five basis by the municipalities and the two governments. While Mr. Philip's message provides for the use of the fund for "the approved purchase of materials which are not an integral part of the completed work," it is expected to have a vital bearing on the municipal programmes. Up to this time municipal officials were unaware of the position as now stated.

SANICH UNAFFECTED
The Sanich Council yesterday evening was informed that the new ruling would have little effect upon the Sanich programme of relief works. After inspection by Provincial Public Works Department officials, Sanich had been congratulated upon the excellence of its programme for expenditure of $30,000, of which the municipality will provide $15,000.

WILL BUY LITTLE

The Sanich relief works schedule includes little material to be purchased as the gravel and rock required will cost nothing beyond the labor involved. Municipal Engineer H. H. Allan, explained. He admitted that use of the gasoline power shovel, for economical loading of trucks would not be admissible for subsidy.

Clerk Sewell remarked, "If Sanich had to buy gravel it might be another thing." Even under such conditions he believed the material so bought should be considered as a part of the completed work.

Mr. Allan believed the Government limitation to be designed to prevent municipalities from expecting contributions towards purchase of large quantities of pipe or materials required for undertakings.

ACT IS CITED

Councillor F. J. Crowhurst of Ward Two read section three of the Act of Parliament authorizing appropriation of $20,000,000, which limits the expenditure in the following terms: "Constructing, extending or improving public works and undertakings; granting aid to provinces and municipalities in any public work they may undertake for relieving unemployment; and generally in any way that will assist in providing useful and suitable work for the unemployed."

"WORK" AND "WORKS"

Councillor Crowhurst drew attention to the fundamental effect of limiting aid to municipalities to a proportion of the "work" or labor, in contrast with the cost of completed "works," which necessarily include materials. He believed this interpretation was not contemplated by parliament. If insisted upon, it would seriously restrict the work placed on municipalities and cities which had to purchase materials. By reducing the amount recoverable from Federal and Provincial treasuries, he was glad that the Sanich programme was almost wholly of a character eligible for the expected assistance of fifty per cent.

COAL BURNING ENGINE TO HAVE MORE TESTING

New Grates Being Made For E. and N. Engine Experiments

Further tests with coal fuel will shortly be conducted by the Provincial Coal Commission, on the Esquimaut and Nanaimo Railway. New grates of a special type, designed to overcome deficiencies discovered in recent tests, of the spark eliminator, are being manufactured in the Winnipeg workshops of the Canadian Pacific Railway. J. M. Cameron, manager of the Island line, this morning announced.

While no date has yet been set for resumption of experiments it is expected that the tests will take place before the end of this month.

The trials are being conducted with the ordinary daily freight train which operates between Victoria and Wellington, and are being watched by officials and Island coal mine operators.

The major difficulty in adapting the apparatus has been the heat factor inherent to Island coal, the problem being intensified by the comparative hardness of the fuel, which resists the breaking-up process carried on continuously by the extinguisher system. No session of the Coal Commission will be held until the series of experiments now in progress are completed. It is understood.

RAIN DRIVES AWAY CHANCE OF SNOWFALL

Yukon southeast to Alberta and south to Colorado.

STORM SIGNALS

The temperature here early this morning was 36, and over the southern end of the Island storm signals indicating an early start up. There is no immediate prospect of snow in Victoria. Mr. Denison said, since the rain and the gale that is promised will keep away cold weather. A few degrees more of cold, however, would have brought a heavy snowstorm.

Vancouver's temperature is the same as here, and the rainfall there from yesterday evening to 5 o'clock this morning was 28 inches, with more promised. Temperatures in the interior of the Province range from 14 above zero at Kamloops to 26 above at Kamloops. Many places in Alberta are down to zero, wind, cold and snow at Swift Current causing a blizzard. Prince Albert, in Saskatchewan, has had 20 inches of snow.

COLDER THAN LAST YEAR

The present vagaries of the weather make a startling contrast to conditions prevalent last year. The Province was then baking in a mild spell, with the temperature here of 68 degrees being no less than 22 above zero. The temperature here was 74, and Kamloops, now 26, was 72. Edmonton reached 80, an extraordinary degree of warmth.

stated he was ready to charge her with abduction. The longing of the girl to see her mother prompted the grandmother to bring her back to Canada. With her mother and an uncle over from Vancouver to greet her the girl was the centre of a happy family reunion. This morning, when in Winnipeg, there was nothing to bar her return to Canada and she was reported to be as joyous to return to her mother's care, as her mother was to receive her.

The four plan to return to Vancouver to-day where the mother hopes that she will win her case to retain possession of her child should legal proceedings be taken.

SIX LOSE LIVES IN EARLY BLIZZARD ON PRAIRIES

Immediately following the arrival of the coroner an undertaker in Regina was notified and three ambulances dispatched. The bodies of the six who arrived in record time. Medical aid was given the survivors and all were able to go home. Bell, who was driving the motorcade, was in Regina, was able to go to his home shortly after noon.

EXPOSURE CAUSED DEATHS

Regina, Oct. 17.—"It was not gas that killed the others and nearly did for the other chap and myself," declared George Bell, one of the survivors and the owner-driver of last night's "death car," in an interview here to-day. Shaken and still suffering from the effects of the horrible night he had spent on the highway, Mr. Bell told his story, broken at times by his own nervous recollections of the occasion and the ministrations of the doctor.

"I had a heater in the car. I'd run it every half-hour to keep us warm, then shut it off. The other fellows kept going to sleep all the time. I didn't like the way they would drop off right in the middle of a sentence. It scared me. We took turns in punching each other awake. I punched till my arms were tired."

NO GAS IN CAR

"That I guess I lost consciousness. They tell me Evey, the farmer, found us. I don't remember any of that. The coroner said we might have had carbon monoxide gas in the car, and might have killed the others. My heater was a water heater and that theory will not work. It was exhaustion that killed them."

"I never dreamed of anything like that in my life. I've read it in books, but," he concluded.

Winnipeg, Oct. 17.—The prairies today were still playing host to a lingering blizzard, but were ready to say farewell. After a blistering march through Alberta and Saskatchewan, the early winter centre to-day on the area along the Manitoba-Saskatchewan boundary. By this evening it was expected the storms will have passed, leaving only near-zero temperatures in their wake.

Street cars in Saskatchewan cities today were rolling along with fair regularity after a two-day battle with

TUG AGROUND NEAR ANGELES

Port Angeles, Oct. 17.—The tug Multitoe of Port Angeles, belonging to the Charles Nelson Lumber Company, went ashore last night at Elsie's Point, near the west end of Port Angeles. Three or four men were aboard. The tug was stuck in a snowdrift and went to ground in an attempt to pull the tug off.

snow-covered rails. Reports of persons being lost in blizzards in the cities brought to police numerous telephone calls from folks who believed relatives had lost their way.

TRAINS DELAYED

In northern Saskatchewan, trains were delayed by snowdrifts piled to a depth of twenty feet and more across the right-of-way. A snowdrift on freight on the Canadian Pacific Railway twenty-nine miles west of Saskatoon to-day was delaying two passenger trains as snowploughs toiled through the drifts. Number two, eastbound Canadian National Railway flier, to-day was proceeding after several hours' delay due to the storm. Fourteen hours late, the Watrous-Prince-Albert train of the Canadian National was proceeding to-day after being extricated from drifts twenty-five miles south.

Sunshine broke over Alberta and parts of Saskatchewan to-day as the blizzard centred in the area about Qu'Appelle, Moosemin and Broadview near the Manitoba border, and across the line as far as Brandon, Man.

SEARCH FOR CHILD

Regina, Oct. 17.—Missing from her home since 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, has been found by a search party of eleven-year-old Doris Gorenko, who left the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gorenko, in the extreme eastern section of the city, to bring a small quantity of milk.

Search is still being conducted by city police, who spent last night in an effort to locate the young girl. Police officials made use of rope lines to guide them in their search, finding the blinding snowstorm made it almost impossible to carry out a systematic coverage. The ropes were used to prevent members of the search party becoming separated.

To-day search was still under progress, but no trace of the child had been found.

CANNOT BLAME BRITISH STAND ON TRADE PLAN

INTEREST IN CONFERENCE
In touring Canada he had found great interest in the present Imperial Conference, he said, referring briefly to the history of the conference. Constitutional status and Empire defence had formed the main topics of discussion in early meetings, and had not interested the people to as great an extent as the present conference.

As a whole Canada, so closely taken up with its own problems, had not taken a great interest in Empire problems, and it was time she should, he said.

Changes in various parts of the Empire reacted on Great Britain and in turn affected other sections of the Empire. Matters of this sort were of vital import and should be closely watched, he said, instancing the Indian situation at the present time and the position of the British Commonwealth with European nations.

At the 1923 conference, status of the Dominions had been the chief topic of conversation. At the present time, he said, the Empire was on an equal footing, with the crown joining them together. A committee was struck to determine points arising out of this decision, with a view to old statutes which governed the former status of the Empire Dominions. This committee would report at the present meeting.

TRADE MATTERS

The conference, this year, however, had trade matters as its chief business. Being a member of the Economic Conference, said Mr. Sutherland, Depression in some parts of the Empire, caused by overproduction, mechanization of industry and other economic reasons, had necessitated the gathering.

In this connection Mr. Sutherland referred to the fact that the educational system of Canada was many years behind that of the United States, and that the "ordinary old-fashioned job." This, no doubt, was responsible for a great part of the unemployment in the country.

By fixing imperial trade relations, he thought a solution might be reached, he continued, outlining the trade situations of various countries of the Empire.

TRADE NOT FEASIBLE

"The idea of a universal free trade within the Empire, is not being considered. However, the other angle of the matter, Imperial preference, has received consideration," said Mr. Sutherland. The last Federal election in Canada had been fought undoubtedly on this issue, he said.

BENNETT'S STATEMENT

Great interest had been taken in Premier Bennett's statement to the conference that Canada would give British goods a preference if Canadian goods received a preference in the British market.

The aim of the Canadian delegates at the conference was to get a "better trade agreement" for Canadian goods, he declared.

"Great Britain is absolutely justified in sizing up the problem from all angles, and although Mr. Bennett, of course, is primarily concerned with Canada's interests, we cannot take it amiss if Premier MacDonald sees fit to give serious consideration to the problem as it affects the Old Country," he declared.

"I have heard a number of speakers who went on to explain the situation with regard to Argentine and Canadian wheat going into Britain."

NO READY RESPONSE

"It is not an easy question to decide. Evidently our Premier's proposal, however, is a ready response from British officials. That is where it rests at the present time," remarked Mr. Sutherland.

VITAL PROBLEM

"These discussions are vital ones, as a great deal is at stake," he said. "It is not a question of a rule, but of trade, and it would be affected greatly if trade relations were abruptly changed."

Mr. Sutherland outlined some of the matters affecting the other Dominions.

"Whatever the outcome of these trade discussions is, it will make no difference in our relations to the Empire," he declared. "But undoubtedly it would be a good thing if we could get trade channels running

Helena, Mont., Oct. 17.—The Montana Supreme Court yesterday affirmed the conviction of William E. Letterman was sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary.

PARTY DIVIDED BY BALDWIN'S STATEMENT

British Conservative Split More Apparent Than Ever After Tariff Declaration

Not Ready For Import Duty on Foreign Wheat Brought Into Britain

London, Oct. 18.—The chasm separating the Conservative protectionists and those of the wing of that party still acknowledging unquestionably the leadership of Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, was further accentuated to-day as study of Mr. Baldwin's new announced programme for the party proceeded.

The Conservative leader's statement, made in an open letter Wednesday to Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, party organizer, after assailing practically every phase of the MacDonald Labor Government's administration, advanced a promise of an emergency tariff on all manufactured goods if his party should be returned to power.

BENNETT PROPOSALS
While the protectionist, the statement does not endorse entirely the proposals of Premier Bennett, who asked the Imperial Conference to approve a preferential tariff scheme whereby all importations from without the British Empire should be taxed at a rate greater than those from within.

Mr. Baldwin fully accepts the principle of preferential trade, but he contends the details must be worked out in conference, and advocates with regard to protection of British wheat, adoption of some system or artifice rather than the placing of a tariff on foreign wheat imported into Britain.

Lord Brentford, who was formerly Sir William Joyson Hicks, Home Secretary in Mr. Baldwin's Cabinet, issued a statement criticizing Baldwin's proposals as "thinly disguised Socialism."

EVASIVE ISSUES
Liberal, Labor and Lord Beaverbrook's papers give the Baldwin statement a cold reception. "Shuffling and evasive," is the description applied by The London Daily Express, which asks the Board of Trade's viewpoint it looks as if the government is deliberately withholding action until weather conditions make road work impossible; they will advance a meagre $15,000 for work on the dam and tell the people of Stewart that that sum is all they can get because that is all they asked for.

CONSERVATIVE PAPERS
The leading Conservative journals have received the Baldwin announcement favorably. The London Times said it marked the definite abandonment of the "safety first" policy made famous in the 1929 election campaign, for one of "work first."

The London Daily Telegraph described the letter as an election manifesto, and discussed the possibility of an early election. The existence of a cabinet crisis caused by some prominent members of the government supporting the bold lead given by Dominion statements, while the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the President of the Board of Trade and Rt. Hon. Tom Shaw, War Minister, "are determined to oppose adoption of any policy involving the imposition of tariffs."

The selection of Vancouver was preceded by a series of debates on the convention floor on the merits of holding the meeting in the United States or Canada. The opposing cities were Columbus, Ohio and Salt Lake City. The vote was: Vancouver 24,386, Columbus 4,006 and Salt Lake City 54.

SON OF KING IS TRAVELING TO ABYSSINIA

Duke of Gloucester Leaves England to Attend Coronation

London, Oct. 17.—A cheery and affectionate "good luck and goodbye" from the Prince of Wales yesterday sped the Duke of Gloucester on his way to Abyssinia, where he is to represent his father, the King, at the coronation of Haile Selassie, fourth son of the King and Queen, also was at the railway station and the three brothers chatted while waiting for the train to leave.

Plotters Aboard
Warship Sought
Washington, Oct. 17.—The Washington Star yesterday said the Navy Department believed the fire which disabled the United States battleship Colorado last June was deliberate and investigators in the guise of seamen have been aboard the vessel in an effort to find the guilty parties.

Naval intelligence investigators, the accounts said, had found the fire resulted from a circuit of electric cables "into which ordinary phonograph needles had been thrust."

STEWART RIED AT GOVERNMENT ASILE WAIT

Board of Trade Voices Indignation Over Failure to Relieve Unemployment

Stewart, Oct. 17.—In a special article, The Stewart News, published by H. W. M. Rolston, president of the Stewart Conservative Association, says: "On August 1, little more than a month ago, this paper reported that 'justifiable indignation was expressed at the Board of Trade meeting in regard to the failure of the government to give any action, and to express the attitude of the Board of Trade at this week's meeting would require a much stronger word than 'indignant.' The board was mad, and mad clear through."

"The question arose again when the secretary read a resolution recently sent by the road committee to the government, requesting that road work along Muddy Gulch be carried on immediately, and also asking for an appropriation of $15,000 to carry on the Bear River dam work during the winter months, both these measures being for the purpose of relieving the unemployment situation locally. No action was taken, and the usual evasive replies that the matter is 'receiving attention' or 'awaiting the return of the minister.'"

"SOUP KITCHEN" NEEDED?
"Howard Campbell, the vice-president, was particularly vehement in his denunciation of the government's evasiveness and said that if letters and telegrams could get no action, the matter would come to the government's attention in a manner not particularly to their liking. Mr. Campbell stated that if the merchants of Stewart chose to cut out all credit sales, and the restaurants stopped serving meals on credit, the Village of Stewart or the Government of British Columbia would find themselves forced to open a 'soup kitchen' here the very next day."

"The prevailing feeling was that unless some assistance is soon forthcoming from the government, conditions in Stewart this winter are going to be very bad. A programme of public work spread over the next six months is the board pointed out that adverse weather conditions cannot be used as an excuse for evading the issue. There is yet time to do considerable work on the Bear River Road before the snow flies, and after the snow is here there is still plenty of rock work, and that could be done during the winter months."

"STRONG ARM" METHODS
"In addition to Mr. Campbell, many other members expressed their feelings in the matter. The consensus of opinion was that 'strong arm' methods were necessary to bring the matter forcibly to the government's attention and the consensus was that the government was given instructions to go about it in a very certain manner, making their wires just as strong and sulphurous as the telephone agent would accept. With the Canadian Legion also taking up the matter with the government, it was felt that the officials in Victoria can hardly afford to ignore the matter longer."

VANCOUVER TO HAVE BIG 1931 LABOR MEETING

Boston, Oct. 17.—The American Federation of Labor, in annual convention here yesterday, re-elected its entire set of officers, headed by President William Green, and selected Vancouver, B.C., as the 1931 convention city.

The selection of Vancouver was preceded by a series of debates on the convention floor on the merits of holding the meeting in the United States or Canada. The opposing cities were Columbus, Ohio and Salt Lake City. The vote was: Vancouver 24,386, Columbus 4,006 and Salt Lake City 54.

W. D. Mahon of Detroit, president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said that the union would support the election of William Green, and that the union would support the election of William Green, and that the union would support the election of William Green.

Fraud on Masonic Lodges Discovered

San Francisco, Oct. 17.—Existence of racketeers who prey on Filipino Masonic lodges was revealed yesterday before the California Grand Lodge of Masons. Hundreds of laborers have been victimized through such fraudulent membership; William A. Schneider of Los Angeles, chairman of a committee on clandestine Masonry, said in a report.

"The scheme is growing common in farming districts," said Grand Secretary John Whitcher.

A MOULDER OF CITIZENSHIP

MR. J. M. CAMPBELL, WHO HAS RE- tired from the Victoria public school teaching staff, can look back upon an outstanding record of useful accomplishment. For thirty-five years he has given the best that is in him to the instruction of the youth of this city, not merely for the training of their young minds, but also with the object of making them into worthy citizens. Realizing that of all the assets a country can have its youth is by long odds the most important, and that the character and future of this vital element of our national life are determined perhaps more in the school than anywhere else, he has always been animated by a high sense of his responsibility and a proper appreciation of the dominant part he and his colleagues of the teaching profession play in the best progress of the country.

For more than twenty years Mr. Campbell has been principal of the North Ward School, and the record of that school, as reflected in the showing made by the pupils in the classroom and on the playground, is in itself a tribute to the fine leadership he has given and the excellent co-operation he has had from a loyal and efficient staff. The school has been, indeed, a fine training ground for enlightened, patriotic and progressive Canadian citizenship, and there is every prospect that the high standard it has established in this respect will be maintained throughout the years.

The teaching profession is not an avenue to worldly wealth; teachers are notoriously underpaid in proportion to their responsibility, mental qualifications and the supreme value of the human material under their direction; but there are certain compensations in connection with their work which no plutocrat can purchase with his millions. Not the least of these is the intimate satisfaction they derive from the successful careers of many of their young charges in after life, and the knowledge that in those they have played decisive parts. This compensation Mr. Campbell carries into his well-earned retirement, with the best wishes of a legion of friends, young and old.

THE SLAVE TRADE

IT IS STRANGE THAT AT THIS STAGE of the world's progress the slave trade should flourish in some countries, and that at the recent Assembly of the League of Nations the British representative's plea for a Permanent Slavery Commission should be turned down. It will be brought up again next year when it is to be hoped the proposal will meet with a better fate.

Slavery, like the traffic in drugs, is an underground business, and in its worst form, where there is large-scale trading as well as ownership, it is an international conspiracy which can only be checked by wide publicity and free exchange of information. It is, as the British resolution emphasized, just this information which is lacking. Yet the resolution was rejected. There was no proposal to increase the duties of the various powers concerned—they are clear and definite enough already—but only to see if they are being carried out.

This is a suggestion which ought not to be offensive to any power with a conscience. By whatever motives the action of the majority powers may have been prompted, The Manchester Guardian comments, the effect will be to strengthen the demand for a full Permanent Commission to replace the present committee. There seems to be ample proof to show that much that should be brought to light is being concealed.

CANADA'S NATIONAL EXHIBITION

AT FIRST GLANCE, THE MIND OF THE visitor to Canada's annual national exhibition at Toronto is impressed by the vastness of "Exhibition City," and one's sense of wonder is increased and deepened as gradually the details that compose its numerous and varied features are evolved. A striking example of the architect's genius, it has throughout the fifty-two years of its existence, been an object lesson to exhibition designers the world over. Yet its plan is continually developing and changing in order to meet new conditions and to fit itself for every task. The most recent development of every phase of interest and activity is to be found within the exhibition grounds, for it is literally true that Canada's National Exhibition is Canada in miniature.

The exhibition occupies an unique position among similar enterprises throughout the world as a centre for propaganda and actual business, as a bureau of publicity, and as a medium for direct intercourse between consumer and producer. Each year it is attended by people whose interest is aroused and concentrated by the carefully arranged displays of manufactured goods. It exceeds in size every other annual exhibition of its kind; it is a permanent institution which has an influence over the entire Canadian market, which is expanding and gaining in importance from year to year. It occupies an attractive site as a city of its own. For almost two miles along the shore of Lake Ontario it presents a wonderful spectacle of wooded slopes, grassy lawns, flower beds and rose gardens, combined with buildings made highly decorative by sculpture and brightly illuminated displays. Added to these, its programmes of classical and popular music, art galleries and the nightly pageants enacted before the grandstand, combine to make this annual fair an ensemble to satisfy the taste of the most exacting of business and pleasure seekers.

In 1879 the Toronto Exhibition was held on fifty-two acres of leased land in Toronto with a lake frontage of 450 feet, with less than a mile of improved earth roads, and consisted of twenty-three wooden buildings, the total floor area of which amounted to 110,000 square feet. No artificial lighting existed, thus necessitating the closing of the Exhibition at dusk. The total attendance was 100,000 people with admission fees of $26,960. This year Exhibition Park consisted of 350 acres of land, on which were scores of imposing buildings devoted to every phase of life and activity. The total value of the lands and buildings is estimated at $13,500,000, and more than eight miles of asphalt roads connect salient points of the grounds. Last year approximately 1,500,000 square feet of indoor exhibit space was viewed by 1,573,000 people, who paid admission fees amounting to $660,521. The record attendance for one day was 258,000.

NOW WHAT?

ON BEHALF OF THE CONSERVATIVE party of Great Britain, Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin says he has accepted the principle of imperial preference contained in Mr. Bennett's proposals; but he says he will not countenance a tax on foreign wheat.

But Mr. Bennett wants Great Britain to tax foreign wheat to give Canadian wheat a preference in the British market. That is the cornerstone of his scheme, the point upon which he has demanded an answer—"once and for all." Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Bennett, therefore, remain far apart.

ELECTRIC LIGHT RATES

THE FALL ELECTIONS IN THE UNITED States seem to have provoked a battle royal on many fronts between advocates of private versus public ownership, and the resumption of commission hearings is bringing the "power trust" issue into the limelight again.

Particular interest is focussed on a case in Crisp County, Georgia, where a public and private corporation have been engaged in a rate-cutting war, with the resulting rumpus imparting something of a national test case aspect to the matter. It appears that Crisp County bonded itself and built the republic's first county plant, which began a few weeks ago to compete with the established business of the Georgia Power Company in the town of Cordele. County rate schedules were simply those of the private company less ten per cent.—to which the Georgia Power Company replied with a thirty-five per cent cut "to protect investments against unfair competition."

No sooner had this announcement been made than the Public Service Commission of Georgia wanted to know why this local reduction did not extend throughout the state, and demanded that the company show just cause why it should not. The order was based on the assumption that the cut was voluntary and that it discriminated against sections not benefited. In the court action which followed, the judge agreed with the company that the commission had "concluded a question without investigating." Hence, it is now up to the commission to prove free-will and discrimination before it can demand reasons for local rate-cutting.

Utility people are congratulating one another, while their critics are pouncing on the case with avidity as an example of how the "power trust" ruthlessly strangles attempts to lower rates by public operation.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

SPARE THE CHILDREN

The Detroit Free Press

One hundred and one children of school age will be killed in New York City during the next four months, says the president of the New York Automobile Club, and another 4,000 will be maimed—unless the automobile casualty rate established during the same period last year is reduced. Other cities cannot afford to forget that child life in their own streets is similarly menaced at this season of the year.

THE EMPIRE AS A UNIT

The Toronto Star

The British Empire is now a unit in accepting the compulsory jurisdiction of the court of international justice in disputes of a legal character. The Irish Free State and India, as well as Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Britain, have deposited their ratifications with the League of Nations' secretariat, Australia being the last to sign.

The significance of this development is that the empire agrees not only to fight other nations that enter into similar conventions, but to abide by the decisions of a particular body in disputes that may arise. The empire may summon other nations to appear before the court and holds itself in readiness to answer any summons issued at the instigation of other nations. Thirty-one states have sent in their ratifications. In addition of thirteen during the last twelve months. The growing authority of the world court is an essential feature of the movement to displace force as the principal factor in international relations.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES, OCTOBER 17, 1905

The experienced Yukoner scents the winter from afar off. As a result steamer and trainloads of men and women have been pouring out of the country for the past month. These are the successful Yukoners in many cases.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Light to moderate winds, partly cloudy and cold, with occasional sleet or rain.

At the Victoria College yesterday, afternoon the annual commencement exercises were held. His Honor Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere, whom it was intended should preside, was unable to be present.

The regular meeting of the city council was held last evening, all the members being present with the exception of Alderman Elford.

Steamer Queen City arrived at Banfield this morning en route to Victoria, and will reach this port tomorrow morning. She has among her passengers Col. Anderson and Captain James Gaudin, of the Marine and Fisheries Department, who have been making a tour of inspection of lighthouses and buoys along the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

Loose Ends

The first accident of the pheasant season occurs out our way—With lamentable results for Mr. Beak—And an old Indian attacks this column.

By H. B. W.

THE FIRST serious accident of the pheasant-shooting season has happened out our way, and as the newspapers appear to have overlooked it altogether, I feel it must be recorded here. Well, the victim of this accident, as of another unhappy and notorious occurrence not long ago, was my friend, Mr. Beak. You recall, of course, that it was Mr. Beak who used to grow the best corn in the neighborhood, but has sworn to grow no more because the first cob he tried to eat this year broke his dental plate cleanly through the middle. Now this tragic occurrence robbed Mr. Beak of his favorite food and a staple article of diet on which he depended for nourishment during the late summer and early fall. The other staple article of diet on which Mr. Beak depends at this time of the year is game. Mr. Beak is a famous sportsman and scientific, too, and has hundreds of pheasants and quail on his place and takes good care to keep them there. He feeds them in the cold weather, he lets them dig up his potatoes in the summer and he defends them from their enemies all the year. Then, at the dawn of the morning, the pheasant season opens, Mr. Beak goes forth and reaps his reward up to the full limit of the law. There are fat, roasted pheasants in the Beak household every day of the open season.

IT WAS HIS gallant attempt to defend his pheasants from destruction (so that he might destroy them himself) that brought poor Mr. Beak to his present sad plight. As he told me to-day, he was sitting in the kitchen of his house last night reading this paper and, curiously enough, this column. (I think he attached a sinister significance to this fact and secretly held me responsible for part of his trouble.)

YES, SAID Mr. Beak. "I was a little in my kitchen when suddenly I heard an owl a-hootin' outside the window. 'By golly,' I says to the wife, 'I says, 'That sounds like an owl, and will you believe me, sir, it was an owl's hootin' all right, and sure enough there was an owl there.' To emphasize which amazing coincidence Mr. Beak paused and moved his new plate slowly from one side of his mouth to the other in a manner peculiarly impressive.

So MR. BEAK resumed. "What did I do?" I confessed I could not answer such a difficult question. "Well, what I done," said Mr. Beak, "was plenty. No owl is going to kill my pheasants. I rushed to the window in both up the old gun with buckshot in both barrels. I rushed to the window. I seen the owl. I took aim square at him and I pulled the trigger. Only somehow I pulled both triggers at once. How I done it I don't know. Well, sir, that old gun of mine kicked up like a mule and sent me square on the floor. I was out for a while. I tried to look at her, but, alas, the faster teeth was. And the doctor says she may be misnamed the rest of my life. I did not tell Mr. Beak that this latter circumstance might be a blessing in disguise, but I sympathized with him as best I could. What I heard his awful pronouncement that he would shoot no more pheasants, no never again, even if he was a starving. I realized how grave was the first shooting accident of the season out our way. With no corn and no pheasants, the Beak family is indeed in a bad way. And even if Mr. Beak's case went in, it is idle to talk of comfort or consolation at a time like this. Especially as Mr. Beak's buckshot missed the owl entirely.

THIS COLUMN, I fear, will never live down its recent holidays. I had thought that the unhappy memory of them had been forgotten by a charitable public, but I expected too much. You cannot cast worms on the sacred Cowichan and confess the fact openly and remain the same man afterwards. Apparently even the poor Indians of Cowichan have heard of it, and resent my goings-on with a great bitterness. Their resentment, however, is not the same as the resentment of white sportsmen. They do not resent the use of worms upon the sacred Cowichan, for they use much more ruthless methods themselves. They resent the fact that I have written about the Cowichan and, perhaps, attracted others there.

WELL, ANYWAY, I have just received a letter from a gentleman who says he was at Cowichan recently and there, on the shores of the sacred river, met and talked with an aged Indian. This old fellow was annoyed because a fishery inspector had smashed his fishery by which he hoped to catch fish for the winter. He thereupon addressed my unimpeachable correspondent as follows:

"The government man has smashed my weir. He says that I have broken the law. That is the white man's law, not the Indian law. Let the white men make laws for themselves, and leave the Indian alone. They say that the weirs keep away the fish, and that is a lie. My people used weirs longer than anyone can remember. There were many Indians then, and plenty of salmon for everyone. The fish belong to us; they are our food. Now the white men have come, and the fish are few. That is because the white men take so many fish in their nets."

and traps. We think that to be quite right—if the white men need fish for food, let them take the fish, so long as they leave enough for the Indian. But the white men do not stop there. They write letters all over the world, telling people to come here and catch fish, not for food, but for fun, and that is very wicked."

PROBABLY I SHALL never see that old Indian. Probably he will never read what is written here. This is rather sad, for I would like him to know that I did not urge anyone to fish in the Cowichan. The results of my fishing on the Cowichan, as accurately recorded, were not calculated to attract anyone. They would more likely persuade all readers of this column to give up fishing altogether. This will cheer the natives up. I have resolved, on looking back over those dismal records, never to cast worm on water again. This, unfortunately, will not make much difference to the fish population of the Cowichan.

BUY IN CANADA, AID PROSPERITY

Prosperity Will Be Helped By Purchasing Goods Made in Dominion

There can probably never be a time when the public was in a more receptive mood for a strong Produced-in-Canada effort. Unemployment has become such a serious subject that people generally are willing to discuss any line of action which has in it possibilities for reducing or removing this menace to national well-being. Says an editorial in Industrial Canada, "In the larger purchase of the products of Canadian labor there would seem to be an opportunity for improving conditions which should appeal to the great majority of the people, for there are few who do not derive a livelihood either directly or indirectly from some form of production."

"It is a line of action which should have a special appeal to the women. They are the principal buyers of commodities and their purses are usually replenished from week to week and month to month by the labor of husbands or fathers. The continuance of these labors is in most cases directly dependent on the custom of fellow citizens so that there is a clear connection between money-earning effort on the one hand and purchasing power on the other."

HOUSEWIFE'S OPPORTUNITY
The editorial reprints the following from The Victoria Times: "The Housewife's Opportunity." "If every Canadian housewife, not to mention Canadians as a whole, would resolve herself to support every form of Canadian industry by demanding Canadian products in preference to products imported from other countries, it would not be very long before the 175,000 or 200,000 people idle in this Dominion would be at work."

The following message has been sent out by organizers of Prosperity Week: "The merchants and manufacturers of this province have been keeping plenty of stock on hand to serve you well when you come in to buy—but you've been coming in less frequently and buying less when you do come. 'Prosperity Week' is here to help you to realize that it takes only a few orders from each one of our enthusiastic citizens to make this province hum with activity and happy working conditions. 'Hard times' if they ever were here—would be gone—plenty of work for everyone who wants it, and a wonderful year of peace, comfort and worry-free days ahead. If you and your family put your heads together now and make up your minds to do your share to bring back this prosperity by spending a little more money than usual this week, and making business by creating it yourself. This is the object of the Prosperity Week. Be proud to help in such a time as this."

PIPE LINE FOR BEER UNDER CITY STREETS

New York, Oct. 17.—A group of police and city officials of Yonkers, N.Y., has been subpoenaed to appear before a federal grand jury investigating a "beer pipe line" under Yonkers streets which federal agents discovered last Tuesday. Subpoenas requiring their appearance before the grand jury were served yesterday on the commissioner and deputy commissioner of public works, the chief of police, the captain of the first police precinct, the fire chief and the deputy fire chief of Yonkers. Assistant United States Attorney Watts said no accusation had been made against the officials, and he did not know whether they had heard about the pipe line before Tuesday. "However," he added, "we would like to know just how more than a mile of four-inch hose could be run under Columbus Avenue, Elm Street, Palisades Avenue and John Street, Yonkers, without knowledge on the part of city officials or employees."

Watts said more than 6,000 feet of the hose, worth approximately $25,000, had been hauled from various manufacturing plants in the city and was being used to transport beer from the breweries of the State Cereal Company, which has a permit to manufacture near beer.

Canadian Hockey Players Refused Admission to United States

THE SPORING MIRROR

THE position of challenger in modern boxing is certainly a tough one. All you have to do, if you are a really worthwhile contender, is to knock out all the other available men who might sneak in ahead of you and grab the title bout, wait and wait, until the champion gets good and tired of looking through a series of nontitle affairs with opponents who are guaranteed to be overweight so the title can't be any mistake change hands. Then the champion's manager has a loss of memory or mental lapse of some kind, you may get a chance at the crown, but are very likely to see the champion coming most of the gate receipts and leaving you just enough for expenses.

Speaking of money, plenty of it seems available to the golf pros where but a few dollars were to be had not many years ago. The Angus Caliente Open has given $25,000 in prize money; Los Angeles, St. Paul and St. Louis hold open tournaments worth $10,000 to the entrants and $15,000 is awarded to the winners of the La Gorce tourney.

Edward Tittle, one of England's most promising young golfers, who took George Voight to the twentieth hole in the British amateur, has been sent to the United States by his dad "to travel around the United States playing golf and to learn all he can about the way the Americans play and win their titles.

British Columbia may have its ogopogo but Los Angeles has located what is known as "Bozo" strange sea man. The following is an extract from a recent Los Angeles newspaper: "Bozo, the strange sea man has reappeared, this time off San Clemente Island, according to several fishermen. Bozo, as he has been nicknamed, has been seen in waters for 100 miles about San Pedro for the last five years. Always the description tallies: a head like that of a bulldog, a cry like a human, and disappeared, but his recent reappearance off San Clemente has impressed fishermen here as an enchanted being. They insist he couldn't be a sea lion nor a porpoise, nor anything else they ever saw before."

Here's a record that will take some beating. The other day when Coach Percy Page had his Edmonton Grads team in an exhibition game, Margaret McBurney, star forward, trained her eagle eye on the basket and created what is believed to be an unofficial world record when, from the spot, she tossed the ball through the loop sixty-one consecutive times.

The official record is held by a member of the State Teachers' College of Tennessee being set about three years ago in a shooting with this same Miss McBurney of the Grads. The two girls were tied in the second round of the competition, thus making a shooting necessary. In this, the southerner had a perfect 60, while Margaret just lost out with 59.

It might prove advisable for some of our coaches to concentrate a little on this form of scoring attack, especially since Page, mentor of the champion aggregation, thinks it necessary to practice his team in free shots.

Young Fighter Drops Dead In Course of Bout

Missoula, Mont., Oct. 17.—Nick J. Pozega, nineteen, Dred Lodge middleweight, dropped dead in a ring here yesterday evening during a prize fight with Eddie Foy, Chicago negro. Physicians and firemen worked over the boy's body for half an hour, but he apparently died a few seconds after his legs collapsed and he dropped to the canvas on his face. His opponent was taken into custody by Chief of Police Ira Johnson on a technical charge, to be held pending an inquest. Foy and Pozega slugged fiercely through seven rounds, both landing heavy blows to the body and head. In the eighth and final round Foy seemed to launch a stronger attack. As Pozega stepped away from a frenzied rally he toppled over.

Five Members of Chicago Team Are Stranded In 'Peg

Owners of Black Hawks Appeal to Washington to Allow Art Somers, Harold March, Earl Miller, Johnny Gottselig and "Duke" Dutkowski to Enter; Others Will Be Affected; Players Classified as "Skilled Help" Under New Regulations.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 17.—Classified as "skilled help" on their application for passports into the United States, five major league hockey players are stranded to-day in Winnipeg. The quintette, members of the Chicago Black Hawks National League team, were refused entry from here as they sought to report for training at Tower, Minn., where the Hawks are in camp.

Appeals have been sent to Washington by the Black Hawk owners. Waiting here are Art Somers, centre star; Harold "Mush" March, Earl Miller, Johnny Gottselig and "Duke" Dutkowski, forwards. Other stars, in a few days likely to be refused entry when they seek to go to U.S. teams, are Jimmy Creighton, Herb Stuart and George Hay of the Detroit Cougars; Jack St. John, former Manitoba Varsity star, now with the Kansas City Pla-mors; Norman Pridham, of New Haven, Conn., Canadian-American League team; and Carl Bergy, Freddy Metcalf, Johnny Achtzer, Al Wood and Frank Ingram, Charlie Gardiner, Chicago's star goal-ender, and two mates, Lolo Ouloure and the veteran Dick Irvin, were successful in gaining entrance to the United States before the immigration bars were placed firmly down.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 17.—Under recent instructions from the commissioner of immigration for the United States, Canadian applicants for admission to that country are being scrutinized more closely than before. This is believed here to be the reason for the holding up of five major league hockey players from Canada who sought to cross the border to join their team, the Chicago Black Hawks.

Hockey players are contract labor under United States immigration regulations, officials of the United States offices here explained. Hitherto they have been admitted under exceptions to the rule banning all contract labor which admit, professionals, artists and entertainers. The latest instructions from Washington are that each case is to be considered on its individual merits, and there is to be no general exception in favor of any class of workers.

This means each player will in future have to satisfy the authorities that as an individual he is entitled to admission under the exceptions to the contract labor law.

Tom Shaughnessy Puts Minneapolis Ice Team on Mart

Minneapolis, Oct. 17.—The Minneapolis professional hockey franchise held by Tom Shaughnessy of Chicago was on the market yesterday.

After a day of unsuccessful negotiations, William Grant of Kansas City, president of the American Hockey League, acting as Shaughnessy's agent, left yesterday evening for Chicago after Frank McCormick, Minneapolis sportsman, has reported willing to take over the club if he could get another person to aid in financing the deal.

WORLD SERIES MELON SLICED UP BY LANDIS

Regulars of Philadelphia Athletics Each Receive Cheque For $5,038.07

Members of Cards Get $3,535.67; Chicago Series Brought in $117,110

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis yesterday sliced up the $953,172 world series melon for 1930. Manager Connie Mack, Coaches Eddie Collins and Ed Gleason, and twenty-one Philadelphia Athletics regulars received cheques for $5,038.07 each, while Manager Gabby Street, Coach Clyde Wares and twenty-two St. Louis Cardinals regulars received $3,535.67 each.

Frank Higgins, of the A's, received $3,778.55, while Charles Perkins, Homer Summa, Roger Cramer and R. V. Ohi received $2,519.03 apiece. Jimmy Moore, rookie Athletics outfielder, received but $1,259.51.

Clarence Lloyd, Kirby Samuels and George Pucemann, who had limited service with the Cardinals, received $1,789.33 each, while William Stock, who played a short time with the Red Birds, received $500.

The rest of the melon was divided up among second, third and fourth place clubs and their players in the National and American League, the two contending world series clubs, and the commissioner's office, which received $65,257.50.

Commissioner Landis also sliced up the Chicago city series melon, worth $117,110 gross.

It was the fourth day of the second match. Davis finished with a count of 15,562, Tom Newman closed the day with 15,556.

Walter Lindrum, the Australian expert, who gave his three opponents 7,000 points each as a handicap in this, as in the first match of the tournament, closed at 6,198, equivalent to 18,196, if the handicap against him were considered. Clark McCnatchy brought up the rear with 11,989.

U. B. C. Gridders Meet Alberta In Important Tussle

University Squads From Four Western Provinces Battle To-morrow for Intercollegiate Rugby Recognition; Coast Team Rated Good Chance of Winning; Gruelling Contests Scheduled in East; Weakened Hamilton Tigers Oppose Confident Toronto Argonauts.

Winnipeg, Oct. 17.—Big university squads from four provinces, fighting for intercollegiate rugby recognition, have laid plans to dominate the west's football programme Saturday. With an intersection conflict at Edmonton, between British Columbia and Alberta, and a battle here between Saskatchewan and Manitoba, student grid warriors will occupy the stage centre.

Entry of University of British Columbia into the prairie struggle has renewed interest in college circles. The west coast team, considered one of the best in the Pacific province, is slated to meet Saskatchewan the following week.

Back to the wall, Manitoba Varsity's strong squad must win over the champion team from Saskatoon to stay in the running. After losing a 2 to 0 decision to, Saskatchewan a week ago, they are given better than even chance of turning the trick.

CAN CINCH TITLE
Calgary Tigers can make a second Alberta title almost certain if they beat Edmonton Eskimos in Edmonton. Tigers have lost only once but their wins this season have been by de-cisive margins and Deacon White's Eskimos are rated a strong machine.

Regina Roughriders, already crowned champions in Saskatchewan, will meet Moose Jaw Maroons in a scheduled contest and Manitoba's titlist, St. John's, will hook up with Tigers to keep in shape for the play-downs.

Toronto, Oct. 17.—Football teams throughout eastern Canada rested to-day to be ready for the muscle-straining test on rain-soaked grids on Saturday.

Three of the teams will struggle through their important fixtures minus several stars. Hamilton Tigers will match punts and bucks with Toronto Argonauts in the inter-provincial union feature tussle, without their pair of star plungers, Ray Bowdway and Elford, who are on the injured list.

Argos, on the other hand, will enter the Bengal lair at full strength and probably more confident than any team has been recent years with a game against the yellow and black champions facing them.

Ottawa Senators clash with Montreal Amateur Athletic Association "weaks" through the loss of their best linemen, "Irish" Monopon and Dave Harding, star half-back. The "Winged Victory" at full strength, need victory badly to keep in the big four race.

QUEEN'S PLAY MCGILL
Queen's University entrained for Montreal in splendid condition and confident of making a good showing Wednesday at McGill University, a provincial union feature tussle, without their pair of star plungers, Ray Bowdway and Elford, who are on the injured list.

Two teams that will enter at full strength are University of Eastern Ontario and University of Toronto. Victory for the latter will keep them abreast of the champion, U.C. The "Scar" should McGill defeat their opponents, Varsity will take the lead of the Intercollegiate Union standing.

Vancouver, Oct. 17.—Bob Kruse, veteran Portland wrestler, won another victory here yesterday evening when he defeated Jacques Manuel, Portuguese grappler, two falls to one. It was a savage bout, well contested.

CITY WILL MEET WESTS TO-MORROW

Leaders in First Division Football Seeking Third Straight Victory

Wests Without Johnny Peden; Saanich Thistles Will Oppose Fast Jokers Team

Victoria City, leaders in First Division football will oppose the Victoria West eleven in the schedule of matches for to-morrow. The teams will meet at the Royal Athletic Park with the City seeking their third victory and the Wests their initial win of the season.

In the other two games the Jokers and Saanich Thistles play at Victoria West Park, and Esquimalt meets the Five C's at Beacon Hill. All three matches will commence at 2.45 o'clock.

After victories over the Five C's and Jokers, the City will be favored to defeat the Wests, who have lost two matches to the Jokers and Esquimalt. The Wests will be further weakened through the loss of Johnny Peden, their star centre-half, who was handed a month's suspension by the Lower Island Football Association yesterday evening for fighting with John McBay, of the Esquimalt team, in the opening match of the season. McBay was given two months' enforced rest.

The Thistles-Jokers encounter should produce some good football. With clubs building their teams around young players, competition is expected to be keen. Last week the Thistles scored under the Five C's 7 to 0 score.

Five C's who have failed to show any great amount of form this season, have changed their team around and expected to give Esquimalt a good match even if they don't beat them.

The teams follow:
Esquimalt—De Costa, Joe Watt, C. Nicol, Kosman, Ray, Hay, John West, Blake, S. Stewart and Wagland. Five C's—Parquhar, Badminton, Harwood, Cockin, McConnell, Wallace, Woolcock, Storey, Sutton, Clarke and Shanks. Beavers, Slinkman.

Hail the Sun God

By JIMMY THOMPSON

KEMO INAMASU
OF CALGARY WHO IS THE ONLY JAPANESE RACE HORSE OWNER IN CANADA AND POSSIBLY THE ONLY ONE IN AMERICA.

At the recent fall meeting of the Woodbine race track the followers of the galloping ponies had a new one to chatter about. This met marked the first time and probably the only time the colors of Nippon went to the barrier at this famous track. These were the colors of the Sunrise Stable. It was represented by one lone horse, the Duchess of York, owned by Kemo Inamasu, the only Japanese race horse owner in Canada, and it is quite possible in America. Kemo is by no means new in the game. For the last five years he has been in the racing racket and has raced as many as ten thoroughbreds at the one time. Previous to this he has been showing saddle horses in western Canada. Duchess of York is the seven-year-old daughter of Yorkshire Lad and Lady Kilmarnock. The Duchess, by the way, picked off three races for herself during the meet. According to the sweet little story Kemo was just down east in the nature of a holiday and brought the Duchess along to win a purse of two to pay the expenses. However, the Duchess played safe and picked off three just for good luck. Kemo has adopted the colors of old Nippon for his stable, his jockeys going to the barrier under the colors of white with a green circle that represents the Sunrise Stable. This same Duchess won three races at Polo Park and Whittier Park during the past summer, which all goes to show that Kemo Inamasu knows what all this racing game is about.

BOWLING

Charlie Chislett, anchor man of the Colonist, gained first individual honors in the City Tenpin League yesterday evening when his team defeated the Jokers, by the odd game in three to open the loop. Chislett gained individual game honors with 197, and won the aggregate laurels with 911.

Jokers started off in fine style, taking the first game. However, they failed to maintain their advantage in the second and were unable to stand up against the newbies in the third and deciding game.

In the fivepin fixture Wild Cats took three straight games from the Seaside Thistles. Freer was high individual game man with a total of 239, while L. Williams gained aggregate laurels with 609.

To-night the Colonist Night Owls and James Island will clash in their first encounter in the Arcade Tenpin League at 8 o'clock.

MOE PLAYING GOLF MATCHES IN FAR EAST

Portland Star and Member of Walker Cup Team Opposes Japanese Amateurs

Is Making Tour of Orient as Member of Crew of Steamship President Cleveland

Tokio, Oct. 17.—Don Moe, Portland, Ore., golfer and member of the U.S. Walker Cup team, who is traveling through the Orient as a member of the Dollar liner President Cleveland, arrived at Yokohama yesterday. He was met by officials of the Tokyo Golf Club and proceeded immediately to the famous Komazawa course near Tokyo, where he played some of Japan's outstanding amateurs yesterday.

Moe proceeded to Osaka by train yesterday evening and is expected to reach his ship at Kobe.

As a member of the crew of the President Cleveland, Moe is subject to the usual ship's discipline, excepting that he is being given extensive leave during the liner's stay in port in order that he may compete with the Orient's best golfers.

Moe will visit Shanghai, Hongkong and Manila before returning to the United States.

Badminton Club At Langford Will Open Their Season

Langford Badminton Club will commence their playing season to-morrow night in their new and larger hall at Langford Lake. H. Bennett, who operates the tea rooms, has enlarged his premises so that basketball will also be played. The Langford Badminton Club have an increased membership and are making plans for a big season. The new hall, with two courts, will greatly facilitate handling the additional members. Besides the Langford League fixtures it is almost certain that other clubs will play their home matches at the suburban hall. North Saanich, who last year captured the championship of the third division, have entered the second division this year but have only one court, which will force them to play all matches away from home.

DUCKS FAIRLY PLENTIFUL ON FRASER DELTA

Several Hunters Reported to Have Secured Limit Bags on Opening Day

Several Flocks of Mallards Seen; Pheasant Shooting Is Reported Poor

Vancouver, Oct. 17.—Duck shooting in the Fraser Delta, where there was a heavy concentration of hunters from the nearby cities, opened on Wednesday. There was heavy shooting all day from the North Arm of the Fraser River to Boundary Bay. Birds were fairly plentiful, and considering the fine day and light westerly breeze, they kept circulating around all day better than usual, and most of the hunters got a few birds to take home, while any who were equipped with punts and a good flock of decoys did well, and from the regularity with which they were dropping the birds some of the men in the punts must have got their limit of twenty ducks. Shooting commenced at 8:31 a.m. just as it was getting light enough to see. There was a particularly large gathering of hunters on the Lulu Island foreshore marshes between Terra Nova and Stevenson. While in the south arm of the Fraser River nearly all mallards and pintails were reported. The evening flight at Terra Nova did not produce much result except a few teal, though from the heavy firing it sounded as if the shooters were filling their hunting bags rapidly and would need assistance to carry the game home. Quite a lot of teal were buzzing about, however, a lone teal flying along the beach would sometimes get as much as ten shots before it disappeared in the dusk or was finally brought down. Better than the teal was reported from Sea Island, where the mallards were coming into some of the fields in fairly good numbers.

Pheasant shooting on the farm lands was not particularly good and it took a lot of hunting with a good dog as a rule for a man to get his limit, and a good many thought they were lucky to get one or two cocks.

A FEW MALLARDS
Most of the birds along the Terra Nova shore were teal, pintail and widgeon, with a few flocks of mallards. In the south arm of the Fraser River nearly all mallards and pintails were reported. ### Baptists Score Easy Victory In Badminton Match

The team is due back in Edmonton on December 1, and after exhibition games they will proceed straight to Toronto, arriving on December 8. The personnel of the English team is: Sir George A. Thomas, Bart., captain; D. C. M. Hume, all-England singles champion for five successive years, and without question the outstanding exponent of the game in the world; H. S. Vancouver Fighter Who Opposes Jumbo Davies Tomorrow Shows Much Class

Semi-windup Between Neel and Wing Hay Creates Interest; Beales Matched

After watching George Ainsworth work out with Wing Hay at the Variety Theatre yesterday evening, the fans present decided that Jumbo Davies is in for a tough fight when he steps into action against the former Canadian champion to-morrow night.

Ainsworth impressed those present as being a more experienced ringsman than the local youngster. He has good footwork, a particularly good left hand, and his right appears to pack a considerable punch. The local fighter packs the heaviest wallop of the two and will probably stand the going a little better. It is the opinion of many that unless Jumbo shows his opponent away with a knockout he will drop the decision if the fight goes the distance.

The semi-windup between Wing Hay and Frank Neel creating interest. The last bout between these two fighters had the fans on their toes from start to finish. Both fighters are in better shape than for their last bout and are both out to win.

BEALES TO APPEAR
The other two bouts will bring together Ted Beales, the local fireman, who will meet Chick Hall of Portland, in a four-round bout. At the last two shows Hall threw out a challenge to any light heavyweight in the northwest, and Beales accepted. According to the record of the Portlander, he has met some of the best fighters in the game and should give the fireman the fight of his career.

The curtain-raiser will bring together Billy Jones and Battling Wood, both of Victoria. The boys will fight four rounds at 125 pounds and it is expected that it will develop into a great slug-bing bee.

Chicago Cubs Purchase One More Veteran

Chicago, Oct. 17.—The Cubs yesterday completed negotiations with the Cincinnati Reds for the purchase of Jake May, veteran left-handed pitcher. The deal was strictly cash, but, as usual, the amount paid to the Cincinnati management was not revealed. The acquisition of May, who was with the Reds for several seasons, brought the Cubs' purchases to three veteran hurlers in less than a week. Yester Sweetland was obtained from the Phillies for cash, and Bob Smith came to the club from the Boston Braves for cash and players.

Kid Chocolate Scores Knockout In First Round
New York, Oct. 17.—Back in action after a long lay-off, Kid Chocolate, crack Cuban negro featherweight, knocked out Benny Nabors, army fighter from New York, in the first round of a ten-round bout at the Olympia A.C. yesterday evening. Chocolate weighed 127½ pounds, Nabors 131½.

Nabors went down and out from the only really solid blow of the fight. They danced around for the first minute or so as Chocolate tried to feint his man into position. When the opportunity came, the Cuban took full advantage of it, crashing home a right to the chin that sent Nabors to the floor for the full count.

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing, and fear catarrhal deafness, or if you have ringing, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears, go to your druggist and get 1-ounce of Ear-Nose-Throat (double strength) and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Closed nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the mucous now draining into the throat. It is easy to take. Anyone who is threatened with catarrhal deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Evelyn Holmes, who wore a frock of pink satin, fashioned on similar lines to that of the bride's gown, while a bandeau of silver leaves gave a pleasing touch to her toilet. Her bouquet was composed of pink carnations and Aspidochelone. The groom was supported by Mr. William Holmes, brother of the bride, and the ushers were Messrs William Coates and Douglas Campbell.

Following the service at St. John's, a reception was held in the Knights of Columbus Hall, Government Street, where the bride couple were assisted in receiving their guests by Mrs. Holmes, wearing a dress of navy blue crepe de chine with hat to match, and by Mrs. Sargent of Duncan, wearing a gown of black satin with black velvet close-fitting hat.

The bride and groom left later for Vancouver and will visit in Seattle prior to returning to Victoria, where they will make their home at 1140 Chapman Street. For travelling the bride wore a frock of powder blue georgette, a tweed coat and a hat to match her dress.

Among the many handsome wedding gifts were a silver tea service from the manager and staff of the New Method Laundry, where the bride has been employed, and a canteen of table silver from the staff of the Water Branch and Land Department of the Provincial Parliament Buildings, of which the groom is a member.

FASHION SHOW

AIDS HOSPITAL

A cheque for $120 from the Junior Women's Auxiliary, representing the proceeds of their recent very successful fashion show, was gratefully acknowledged by the board of directors of the Jubilee Hospital at their monthly meeting yesterday evening. The board passed a resolution of thanks and congratulation to the girls for their generous gift.

Reports received showed that the total number of days' treatment during September was 6,373; daily average of patients, 212; patients admitted during the month, 336; discharged, 294; gross cost per diem, $3.92.

At the end of September there were forty-one more patients in the hospital than at the beginning of the month. Since the beginning of October the number of patients has still further increased, so that it was pointed out, almost all the beds in the hospital are now occupied.

During September the register recorded twenty-eight births and thirteen deaths.

The renovation of the nurses' dining-room, completed recently, has secured much-needed additional room through a change in the location of the kitchen.

WEDDING AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Miss Thelma Mary Holmes Becomes Bride of Arthur G. Sargent

St. John's Church was the scene last evening at 8 o'clock of the marriage of Thelma Mary, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Holmes, of Caledonia, and Arthur George Sargent, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Sargent of Duncan. Rev. Canon F. A. Chadwick performed the ceremony in the presence of a number of friends of the contracting parties and Mr. O. Jennings Burnett presided at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of ivory satin, fashioned on Princess lines with sleeveless bodice and skirt of ankle length. The conventional veil was of filmy embroidered silk net, arranged on her head in cap-shape and held in place with a circlet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was a shower of Ophelia roses, white carnations and white sweet peas.

Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Evelyn Holmes, who wore a frock of pink satin, fashioned on similar lines to that of the bride's gown, while a bandeau of silver leaves gave a pleasing touch to her toilet. Her bouquet was composed of pink carnations and Aspidochelone. The groom was supported by Mr. William Holmes, brother of the bride, and the ushers were Messrs William Coates and Douglas Campbell.

AGED WEALTHY WOMAN BEGGAR

New York Vagrant of 91 Years Found to Own $200,000; Family Spurned

New York, Oct. 17.—Life is revealed without varnish in the police courts of this town. In the day's work of these minor courts there are startling cross-sections of human nature. Take the case of Mrs. Rachel Somolowitch, a case which made the drab Williamsburg Police Court in Brooklyn as interesting as a stage play.

Mark Rudich was on the bench when the case was called. He glanced up from a heap of papers to survey with considerable interest the woman who stood before him under the lee of a policeman's shoulder. She was a very old woman, though spry and bright-eyed.

"What's this," queried the Magistrate, still staring at the old woman.

"Vagrancy, your Honor. She's a beggar, said the cop in that important voice which the members of the police reserve for court occasions.

"Beggars? This old woman?" demanded the magistrate.

"Sure, Judge. She's an artist at the game—what we call a twenty-dollar bird. That means she's good for $20 a day most any day."

"What have you to say for your self, madam?" questioned Magistrate Rudich.

No answer. The magistrate tapped the bench impatiently. From a sea of couple of rows back arose a gray-haired man, well dressed, substantial. He stepped forward, talking a stand at the left of the old woman, came with habitual vagrancy and put up a hand.

"May I speak, your Honor?"

"Of course, Mr. who are you?"

"My name is Aaron Somolowitch. This woman is my mother. I'd like to inform you, Judge, that she is ninety-one years of age. I, myself, am sixty."

"Ninety-one?" said the magistrate in astonishment. "Ninety-one? You don't mean it."

"Absolutely, Judge. She's a wonder that way—and in other ways, Judge, we don't know what to do with mother. We have tried everything, we could think of to keep her from going out on the public streets and begging and making the blush of shame come to the rest of us when she is arrested. But nothing does any good. We can't do a thing with her."

"Dear, dear, Mr. Somolowitch," commented the magistrate. "This is amazing. It is unfortunate. But what is her financial condition? Is she in need?"

"Need, your Honor? Why this woman here, my mother, this woman who is standing here in rags and dirt and looking like an object of pity—as she wants to look—this woman is worth $200,000 in hard cash and real estate."

"You are joking, Somolowitch," said the magistrate.

"No joke about it, Judge. She has $100,000 in cash in half a dozen banks in the Brownsville section of Brooklyn, and she owns more than $100,000 of good, sound property. She's a rich woman, but we can't keep her from begging. Isn't there some way, Judge, to put her in an institution to keep her off the streets?"

"What have you to say for yourself, madam?" the magistrate asked again.

"What reply do you care to make to what your son has told me?"

"Still no answer. The old woman stood passively, her eyes on the floor, totally uninterested in the proceedings.

The magistrate tapped his pencil at good, sound property. She's a rich woman, but we can't keep her from begging. Isn't there some way, Judge, to put her in an institution to keep her off the streets?"

YOUR BABY and MINE

Mrs. Moore will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

There are occasions in every household when the mother is ready to throw up her hands and admit defeat. Everything goes wrong. Son is into everything and destruction and devastation follow in his wake. Keeping after him brings the mother to the breaking point and puts a sharp edge on her voice and steel in her eye.

When this point is reached something must be done. Something often is, and while that something relieves the mother's taut nerves, it only increases the child's irritation. We can't conscientiously punish an irritable child. We have to look upon this bundle of exasperation as we might a rapidly revolving machine whose cog have become cluttered and over-heated and in need of a bit of oil.

That soothing oil may be a warm bath. There should be no suggestion that this is in any sense disciplinary and that there should be the joyful assumption that the child is going to love this. Tub toys, lots of warm water, soap and wash cloths or sponges to make foam, and the child will be occupied for twenty minutes dabbling himself clean and watching the little boats sail and about.

The warm water will calm his nerves and temporarily check his nervous and irritable activities.

WARM BATH ENDS FATIGUE

When his outpouring of the bath he is rested. He is in an entirely different frame of mind. New games and new toys can replace the ones which stimulated the former orgy of mischief. The child is ready to be good.

Which the child is cross—when he is in a mood to scream at anything, when he seems possessed to run from one thing to another, making himself more and more exhausted—that is the time for the warm bath. More warm baths and less heated paddlings would end a lot of disagreeable situations.

The tired adult knows that any small irritation may fire her to angry quivering. Later she says apologetically: "You will just have to excuse me, I had put up patches all day and I was just dead." She knows this to be a legitimate excuse. But she is less lenient with her tired, little four-year-old. She is less likely to hunt for plausible reasons for his bad conduct and focus her eyes on the annoyance of the conduct. A child's behavior is attached so firmly to his physical condition, both temporary and permanent, that the two cannot be separated. We can aid the one by improving the other.

The ceremony of daily bathing is so inflexibly a part of the morning that it might be well to consider the possibility of changing it to the hours between four and six for the runabout when the child is at the point of most extreme fatigue, and consequently at his naughtiest. A warm bath would soothe these nerves and he would emerge sweet and abiding and good as a little angel for the rest of the day.

YOUR CHILDREN

Every state has its pride, but no one can dispute the fact that traditions are more outstanding in some localities than others and affect to a great degree the present-day life of its citizens.

I think we Canadians discount this matter of tradition too much. We look on it as historical snobbery and declare that it has no place in a democracy.

On the contrary, I believe it to be one of the fundamentals of good citizenship and civic pride.

Up in New Bedford, Mass., they were whalers in the old days. Many a vessel left its friendly port on the dangerous quest of oil, often rounding Cape Horn, on up into the northern waters of the Pacific, and not returning to home and families for three years. As often as not they never returned at all.

PRIDE BORN OF HARDSHIP

The visitor is astounded and almost unbelieving at the recital of the hardships these people endured.

Carved into the pride of their descendants and sculptured on their hearts are the grim experiences of the past, an appreciation of the pangs with which their cities were born, and a decided effort to be worthy of that pain.

Almost every town and city in the country had its hardships and dangers as well as romance away back in the beginning of things, when men had only axes to build their houses, guns to keep off the Indians, and unbelievably rude instruments to clear and work the soil. We know how the women worked, and the men, to keep the bodies and souls of their families together. The details of these days are fascinating.

Every city had a beginning. And every child should know the complete story of his own city from beginning to end. That place men fought for and died to keep it is now their duty to care for. The work must go on. Not in the old way, but the new. Every garden is a memorial to those pioneers, and every street, unlit by pavement and park. As they grow older, not only beauty but constructive helpfulness and political interest should be emphasized.

LET THEM VISUALIZE PAST

When I suggest going into details about the past, I mean that children need a definite and romantic picture, not the mere generality of the history book.

I grew up in Pittsburgh. No one told me about Pittsburgh. I knew all about Fort Duquesne, but I was never taken to the exact spot where it stood. A word picture might have been drawn for me of the Delaware Indians and other tribes, often looking for trouble, searching their canoes at the "Point" and bringing up bundles of furs to trade in the town that the English later started. But it was not until several years ago that I had any romantic picture of it at all. That, and "The Lattimer" by Henry Christopher McCook. Then I found mythology come to life.

What civic pride I had just got there some way, by itself. I had fine parents but parents then were all in teaching traditions of place. And we didn't get much at school.

Children need reasons for civic pride. It is up to us to name them.

NEW EMPRESS OVERWEIGHT

Ethiopian Queen Suffers From Hereditary Physical Disability; Obscure Life

Addis Ababa, Abyssinia, Oct. 17.—For the new Empress of Ethiopia, Her Majesty Wolosero Menen, the coronation of her husband, Emperor Haile Selassie I on November 2, will be a "coming out" party. Her husband was, till April, when the Empress Zaiditou died, ruler of the country with the title of King. As long as the Empress was alive, it made social functions rather awkward to have two women of almost equal rank in the court. Consequently, the Queen had to retire in favor of the Empress.

This obscure life, which she has put to the service of her six children and to the aid of orphans in the capital, will end on the coronation day, when she will take her place alongside the Emperor. But she will never be able to do much more than direct the court and look on. Her physical handicap, overweight, will deny her the pleasure of dancing and moving about sufficiently to be the "belle of the court."

The Empress Zaiditou was unable to use her legs excepting when supported by servants on either side. She seldom stood on her feet. All traveling was done in a sumptuous limousine.

Her Majesty is but forty years of age. She inherited immense wealth, including a great deal of property in Addis Ababa, from her father, Emperor Menelik. Her brother, who was deposed as Emperor in 1917, is deprived of enjoying his heritage as he has been held since his dethronement within reach of the present government sixty miles from the Gibbi (palace).

Her subjects have known Wolosero Menen as a woman with simple tastes. Since the death of the Empress Zaiditou, she has been entertained in the Gibbi both for the court and for European women. She also has appeared at banquets with the Emperor. But she continues to spend her time thinking about the welfare of her children. The Prince Imperial is but sixteen years of age. Her oldest child, a girl, is married to the governor of a rich coffee-growing province.

She founded and keeps up with her private funds a carpet factory which gives work only to orphans.

Legal Status Of Quebec Women To Be Raised

Montreal, Que., Oct. 17.—The recommendations of the commission appointed last year to investigate the claims of Quebec women for amendment to the civil code giving them a legal status more in keeping with that enjoyed by women in other provinces of the Dominion, will be embodied in a government measure to be brought before the legislature by Premier Taschereau at the next session. The Montreal Gazette says today.

This commission tabled its report late in the session last year when there was not time to consider it before adjournment.

It recommended, in part: Permission for the married woman to enter an action for personal damages when the husband refused authorization.

Permission for married women, whether common or separate as to property, to receive and control the proceeds of their labor.

Removal of the necessity of marital authorization in case of separation for the disposition of moveable property, and removal of the necessity of judicial authorization in case of separation as to bed and board.

POTATO USES AS BORDER

Mashed potato is perhaps the simplest and easiest border to prepare. Rice or thoroughly mashed potatoes. Then for each two cups of mashed potato add 4 tablespoons of hot milk or cream, 1 teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons melted butter. More milk may be needed to make the potatoes the consistency of a table-spoon. Press a mound of the potatoes around the outside and place it in the center of a hot platter or chop plate. Press a mound of the potatoes around the outside and place it in the center of a hot platter or chop plate. Press a mound of the potatoes around the outside and place it in the center of a hot platter or chop plate.

Sweet potatoes or squash can be used for a border in place of Irish potatoes with excellent effect.

Greens present a more inviting appearance when served either in a molded form or in the form of a border.

This method of serving is attractive for cabbage or sauerkraut. Arrange in a border ring and fill the center with a fluffy mashed potato piled high in irregular contour. Surround border with brown sausage cakes or crisp link sausage.

Rice, macaroni, spaghetti or noodles make satisfactory borders. Rice lends itself particularly well to molding. Macaroni, noodles and spaghetti are easily arranged to form a border for any preferred meat. Priced as chicken or candied sweet potatoes, hot roast beef or succulent pork chops, a ring of spaghetti or boiled mutton in a ring of spaghetti are appetizing dishes. The macaroni and spaghetti are especially good combined with a tomato or creole sauce.

Stuffed tomatoes, stuffed peppers, glazed or buttered onions, beef marbles and grilled tomatoes add distinction to any hot main dish.

DAILY MENU

Breakfast—Honey dew melon with lemon, cream, crisp bacon, cornmeal pancakes, honey, milk, coffee.

Lunch—Mashed potatoes, spinach with hard cooked eggs, popovers, brown Betty, milk, tea.

Dinner—Boiled mutton in spaghetti border, turnip cubes and beet marbles, cold slaw, buttered corn, milk, coffee.

Too much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms, such as headaches, gas, heartburn, etc., will disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine, prescribed by doctors for conditions due to excess acid. It is always a liquid; it cannot be made in tablet form. Look for the name Phillips' and the word genuine in red.

WORK AT PARK WILL INCREASE USABLE AREA

Saanich Council Told Only Acre of Mt. Douglas Park Being Cleared

"Just what is the meaning of this Mount Douglas Park matter?" asked Councillor F. J. Crowhurst yesterday evening, when the Saanich Council was in session. Reeve Oldfield said the work in progress had been authorized by the Victoria-Saanich Joint Beaches and Parks Committee. He believed the development to be greatly in the public interest, as it would enlarge the accessible portion of the park to five times the area previously usable. There was much ignorance as to the extent of the park and its boundaries. Clerk Sewell said only an acre had been cleared, and estimates of thirty acres were incorrect. He also said that the party removing the trees for the fuel content had not earned wages. Only one tree of worth had been removed.

Councillor Hagan declared "the work is giving some room at the park; the work will make Mount Douglas Park one of the finest in Saanich."

Councillor Crowhurst was assured that before the work was initiated the Beaches and Parks Committee as a body had visited the site and the work had carefully studied the proposals and approved the plans. On their recommendation the City Council had ratified the project. Saanich work on behalf of the parks committee.

AN APPRECIATION

To the Editor:—The undermentioned organization desires, through the medium of your paper, to place on record their appreciation of the militant stand of the Rev. Clem Davies for the underdog, the weak, the unemployed worker. It would appear strange that with all the available ability and opportunity of our clergy to preach against conditions which are allowed to prevail, it is left for this gentleman alone to bring the subject of paramount importance before the public. At least we feel sure that unemployed will note this condition of affairs and continue to give encouragement to his efforts. Congratulations to the city of Victoria in possessing a reverend gentleman of such progressive tendency.

Yours on behalf of Victoria Unemployed Association, A. HETHERINGTON, 1827 Quadra Street, Victoria, October 14, 1930.

THE BLAKEBURN FUND

To the Editor:—Now that the Blakeburn Fund is closed, I am offering you a letter from the Workmen's Compensation Board for publication.

It relieves our minds to know that these widows and their families are not wholly dependent on the charity of subscription lists, the returns from which are at best inadequate for the needs of these mothers and children for only a few months, but each family will receive a substantial pension during the mother's life or until her remarriage.

Those who remember the distressing conditions among many workmen's families, as the result of death or accident, to the breadwinners before the Workmen's Compensation Act came into force, will realize that the enactment of this measure of Government protection was one of the wisest things, both from economic and humanitarian standpoints, that our legislators have ever done. The cost is small. One cent a day from each man's wage added to about one cent a day from the employer for each man in his employ.

There is the letter referred to: "The widows and children of the Blakeburn miners receive exactly the same compensation as the widows and children of other workmen who have been accidentally killed in any of the industries coming within the scope of the act. Under the act a dependent widow receives the sum of $25 per month for life or until remarriage, together with $7.50 per month for each child under sixteen years."

"To date thirteen dependent widows have filed applications for compensation in respect of the Blakeburn disaster, and they are receiving a cheque for the amount of the compensation specified above."

"We might add that most of these claims were allowed by the board on the day on which they were received. The first pension cheque was mailed to each the following day."

(Signed) "E. N. BROWN," Solicitor for Workmen's Compensation Board.

By the way, I haven't noticed any contribution listed from the Blakeburn Colliery Company itself. Did they give anything?

GEORGE C. F. PRINGLE, 619 David Street, Victoria, B.C., October 13, 1930.

MOUNT DOUGLAS PARK

To the Editor:—I saw in a recent issue of The Times that some Saanich residents are protesting at the needless destruction of the timber in Mount Douglas Park. But unfortunately the protest comes too late, as the trees along the projected highway are now felled, some crashing among the standing timber adding to the wreckage. Then the fire lighted to clear the branches are still eating their way through the petty soil carrying decay to more of our fine trees. So the waste goes on.

A few years ago this corner of the park was a splendid stand of timber and was admired by a great many visitors from the east, but now it is almost an even plain.

As a public trust, every tree and flower in this park should be protected. But what are the facts? A few years ago someone had a bonfire and had a large block of the best timber converted into stove-wood and carried away. Where did it go? That, let in the paper and some trees were blown down. Now in place of those splendid trees we have a patch of stunted grass and weeds, some stumps and a bit of ugly fence.

Apparently when some persons want a special stick of timber they go to the park, select a suitable tree and take it away, leaving the stump and branches to rot. The public are allowed to take the small trees and flowers from the park. Then the goats get blamed for some more; then the people's representatives cut the big timber and so the waste goes on.

Some of our service clubs are asking our Government for more parks, and they quietly watch the ones we have close by being destroyed.

B.C.'S FIRST ORCHARD

To the Editor:—An article in your issue of the 10th inst. reports Mr. J. H. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, as giving an address to the Women's Educational Auxiliary where he states that the first orchard in British Columbia was started by Wm. Ellis at Penticton, in 1861.

Ellis, the original owner and locator of Penticton, who began cattle and horse raising at that point in 1865, and in time started an orchard in the early seventies. The first orchard started in British Columbia was the Casadesa, an Italian named Lorenzo, at the Fountain, nine miles north of Lillooet town. He opened a stopping place there in 1859 and did a thriving business when the gold rush to Cariboo was on in 1861 and 1862.

Fully ninety per cent of the travel passed his place up to 1865, when the Yale Road was opened. In 1861 he sent to Italy and brought out three relatives, who brought with them some grape cuttings, which Lorenzo planted in 1862. He also got a few apple trees from Oregon. This was the first start of an orchard in the upper country. The writer had grapes grown by Lorenzo at the Fountain in Lytton in 1867.

The second orchard started was at Cherry Creek, twelve miles east of Savona, by an Old Country Frenchman, Nick Hare, in 1864. Some trees are still there, I think, or were a few years ago. The third orchard was started by the late Charles Cooney at Tranquille in 1865, and some of the original trees are still there and bearing. Mrs. Cooney is still there and in good health. Shortly after this date orchards were started near Lytton, the Tom Seward place in 1865, now the Anglican Industrial School, three miles north of Lytton, and the Tom East place, now the property of David Spencer Limited. This orchard was started in 1866, four miles north of Lytton, across the river.

The writer now makes a statement re the garbled reports that the traveling writers make and have been making for over sixty years. Here is what happens. In their travels they run across some old-timers of twenty-five and thirty years' residence in British Columbia, who begin relating stuff that is sixty and sixty-five years old and of which they personally know nothing, but give it out as facts. It is all hearsay to them; it makes good reading and those who do not know the difference take it in. This happens right along. It does not matter very much, anyhow, but with old-timers like the writer it does not go down at all. JAS. B. LEIGHTON, Pioneer of 1863, Savona, B.C., Oct. 14, 1930.

COWICHAN INDIANS' GRIEVANCE

To the Editor:—On October 12, Robert Daniel, Joe Christopher, Alphonse and Stephen Alee, Indians of Cowichan Reserve, were hunting at Silver Mine. On their way back, having one deer in their car, they were stopped by Robert Marshall, game warden of the district. He told the men to get out of the car and inspecting their guns found shells in the magazines of three guns. He took their names.

None of these Indians knew the law forbidding shells to be kept in the magazines of their guns. They were away with him, without telling them what was wrong, though Robert Daniel asked him twice.

On October 14, Robert Daniel, Joe and Christopher Alphonse went to court and were fined ten dollars each. "From our very childhood, we were always taught by our parents how to handle a gun; when we were walking to be sure to have a bullet in readiness but to keep them in the magazine. If we were looking for a deer, to be certain that what we were aiming at was a deer and not a person, and not to shoot at anything moving in the bush."

"So far we have never heard of any Indians who killed a man when he was hunting, and when a gun is in the car, and all the bullets in the magazine, we know that there is no danger."

"As soon as we are home, our rule is to empty the magazine so that the little fool if they play with the gun will never be hurt by anyone."

Before fining us ten dollars for having bullets in the magazines of our guns, why did not the Government tell us report of the economic section of the League of Nations, held in Geneva. He will find out that the trade of Great Britain increased between 1918 and 1922 twenty-seven and one-half per cent. Sheffield last year sold fifty per cent more goods than in any previous years before the war, and had most of it to protect countries that did not have the skill and brains to turn out a like product. Great Britain built as many ships last year as any other year in her history and if Mr. Inward will travel a bit he will find in the United States thousands of machines, tools, etc., made and invented by British engineers. The electric light is one of them, invented and used in London for one year before Edison got going in the United States. With these facts before her, is it any wonder that Great Britain refuses to be stamped into protection? In protected America, so bad is unemployment that in Detroit they have to have special officers at the railway stations to turn back unfortunate men looking for work. Mass production and protection are not saying them from the worst industrial crisis in their history.

Great Britain is the only country in the world to keep accurate unemployment figures, and results show she has over 2,000,000 unemployed, although she is employing 1,000,000 more than in pre-war times. Through wise legislation, agreed to by all parties, food is untaxed, the result being that the British pound goes farther for necessities than in any period since the war.

The British Government, whatever their weakness in other affairs, realize that the first duty of any civilized government is to take care of the masses, and food, being essential to life and happiness, will, I venture to predict, always be on the free list.

On the other hand, the policy of Mr. Inward and his friends is that food should be taxed and, Mr. Plunkett says, we can afford to pay higher prices. The world of these gentlemen consists of less than 100,000 union men that can deliver votes and will benefit by the tariff. The 6,000,000 or more whose income is less than £100 a year are never considered as worthy of attention.

The action of the Conservative press for protection is a disgrace. Instead of playing cricket they have done all they can to promote the feeling among the native born that Great Britain is an old and decadent country, and yet what are the facts?

She has given Canada her best market for her surplus food stuffs. With-ward's attitude towards the Tofino Road seemed not to be favorable. To use his own words, he said: "Politically, I think the last, as a suggested route, is a bad move. It would be impossible to have both roads." Since then he evidently has had a change of heart and now sees good reason for both roads. I have been, apparently, successful in persuading him.

The road to Tofino is of easy construction and not expensive to build; the bridges are few and not expensive. Work could be carried out during the winter, giving relief to unemployment. I still disagree with Mr. Hayward concerning the construction of the Tofino Road.

The reason of Mr. Hayward's attitude is many, among others. A court house to cost one million dollars; large Government grant to beautify the City of Victoria as the capital of British Columbia. This is very nice, but I claim it would be better to use this money to relieve the provincial school situation, improve the Island highways and to relieve unemployment existing on Vancouver Island, or for other purposes equally important and more beneficial than the construction of a court house in Victoria. When you consider the amount of unemployment that prevails in every little place or hamlet throughout Vancouver Island, that if this is not attended to the people will gravitate to Victoria, as well as Vancouver, it is up to the larger centres to help the smaller places by supporting the construction of public facilities within or near such smaller places.

I recognize the importance of the tourist trade, of the fact that Vancouver Island is better suited to that class of trade than any other portion of British Columbia. The advantages sustained from catering to the tourist should be spread over the whole island, and not in one part of it. The settler and the permanent resident should not, however, be forgotten, and their wants should receive primary consideration for they are the backbone of the province.

Mr. Hayward complains that I said he was too self-centred. With kind respect I wish to correct my friend. I never said so. Let him read again. Your newspaper has been kind to permit the publication of considerable correspondence concerning the public facilities on Vancouver Island, and I trust that some benefit will come from such publicity.

WORKINGMEN AND PROTECTION

To the Editor:—I note in The Colonist of Sunday last a letter in which Mr. Inward indicates in the popular Conservative spirit of bailing Great Britain.

Mr. W. Inward poses as a friend of the working man, but I fear he is more of a politician than a friend of the worker, for in no country in Europe has the condition of the worker improved more rapidly than in Free Trade Great Britain. Whatever sins of omission you may lay at the doors of Ramsay MacDonald, Snowden and company, it cannot be said that they have neglected the masses, for never before in history have the British working men been as well fed and clothed as they are today. So what is the complaint? It is that they cannot get their wages and yet this does not suit Mr. Inward. He wants to go back to the old days of low wages, low food and domination of special interests. It is Mr. Inward that is asleep, not Great Britain. For in her policy to render justice to even the humblest citizen she has perhaps not meted out justice to the capitalist and taxpayer, but certainly labor cannot complain about the present arrangement, which is according to trades and labor standards, the most modern in the world.

Mr. Inward says that Mr. Bennett's offer to the British government was a business offer. I beg to differ. It was not a business offer—no good business man ever deals with a man whom he is dealing by underestimating his intelligence. Mr. Bennett did exactly this. He put on an extra tariff of about ten per cent before leaving for England. He kindly offered to take this off and call it a preferential tariff if Great Britain would consent to subsidize her 65,000,000 people on their food. In short, Great Britain got nothing and Canada got a market for her foodstuffs at a price.

Mr. MacDonald, Philip Snowden and company may be only self-interest working men whose intelligence Mr. Inward casts asurs upon, but they will never be caught by such shallow horse trade deals as the one advanced by Mr. Bennett.

Mr. Inward, in deploring the decadence of Great Britain's trade, speaks of the prehistoric day when she was the "workshop of the world." If he will arouse himself from his slumbers he will find that she is still the workshop of the world. Let him read the report of the economic section of the League of Nations, held in Geneva. He will find out that the trade of Great Britain increased between 1918 and 1922 twenty-seven and one-half per cent. Sheffield last year sold fifty per cent more goods than in any previous years before the war, and had most of it to protect countries that did not have the skill and brains to turn out a like product. out her financial backing, Canada's dollar would hardly be worth fifty cents. When wheat was high in price, Canada held her up by pooling her wheat and she has shut her door in the face of her immigrants, and now Mr. Bennett wants to dictate her trade policy. Australia has been full of criticism of the British trade policy, but in spite of protection she is broke and has to have a handout from Great Britain to keep going, and Canada is going the same way unless she stops her political extravagances, and now the United States for coal. The price of Canadian coal is prohibitive, due to the long rail haul from Nova Scotia or British Columbia; as there is no coal mined in Ontario.

never has the prestige and credit of the business goes to the United States. The cheap Russian coal was a boon to thousands of poor people living in one of the most severe climates in the world. To pull Mr. Bennett's political chestnuts out of the fire, the importation of Russian coal is stopped, although the only ones it hurt were the United States coalminers. It is true, Mr. Bennett offers to bring in Welsh coal, but the joker is, the poor of Great Britain must pay more for their wheat, if he admits coal—a noble policy for a labor leader, Mr. Inward, and I hope you are proud of it. Let's hear your defence.

NEW DRIVE ON BANDITS ALONG THE YANGTSE

British, U.S. and Japanese Gunboats Aid Chinese Government Troops

Canadian Press
Hankow, China, Oct. 17.—Steps to combat a renewed outbreak of red marauders along the Yangtze River were taken yesterday after Communist shore batteries had attacked one British and two United States vessels.

Red cannonade Wednesday fired on the Bee, flagship of the British Yangtze patrol fleet, carrying Admiral McLean, commander-in-chief. The Bee was not damaged. Later the same gang fired on two United States commercial vessels and a Chinese ship, but none was damaged.

When the red battery opened up on the British gunboat Teal the latter returned the fire, silencing the attack. The Teal then landed an armed party which captured one cannon—a brass muzzle-loader of doubtful accuracy, which perhaps explains the failure of the reds to hit passing steamers.

WILL BE ISOLATED
British and Japanese authorities decided to maintain one gunboat each at Changsha, Hunan, despite the low water there in the Siang River. This means the vessels assigned to Changsha will be isolated until the rise in the river next spring, as the stream is not navigable during the low water period.

The persistence of another Communist threat against Changsha caused the British and Japanese to take this step. United States authorities, it was understood, decided to station a gunboat at Yochow, at the head of Tungting Lake, not wishing to risk sending a vessel to Changsha during the low-water period.

Why—Children need BOVRIL

Children need Bovril to fortify them against cold and illness. Bovril is the best of the beef in its most concentrated and digestible form.

The special body-building powers of Bovril are due, partly to the actual nourishment in Bovril itself, and partly to its unique power of enabling the human system to derive far greater nourishment from the ordinary diet. It assists development and increases stamina. Give the children Bovril every day for a month and note the difference.

The Body-building powers of Bovril have been proved by independent investigation to be from 10 to 20 times the amount taken.

in the year 1870, and was a direct descendant of Miles Coverdale, one of the early translators of the English Bible. She leaves to mourn her loss three brothers, Rev. Thomas A. Coverdale, of Southampton, Eng.; Rev.

SPANISH ELECTION

Madrid, Oct. 17.—The date of Spain's parliamentary election has been set by the first nationwide election since General Primo de Rivera suspended parliamentary government when he became dictator in September, 1923.

OAK BAY TO SPEND $9,000
FOR RELIEF

Municipality Votes Half, Provincial and Federal Governments Supply Rest

Councillors Unable to Purchase Land For New Playground

With the assistance of the Federal and Provincial Governments, the municipality of Oak Bay will spend $9,000 on unemployment relief this winter. It was decided at a meeting of the Oak Bay Council yesterday afternoon. The council will only look after labor work, and will attend to genuine needy cases first, of which there are about thirty in Oak Bay.

At a meeting of the finance committee to be held this evening the sum of $4,500 will be voted from the offer of the municipality for unemployment relief. The remaining half has been applied for from the governments, $2,500 from the provincial and the same amount from the Federal surface drains, new sidewalks and the clearing of a new two-acre playground on Monterey Avenue will constitute the programme of relief work.

NEED PLAYGROUNDS

In connection with playgrounds in the municipality, a letter was read from Capt. F. G. Dexter, supervising principal of the Monterey and Willows schools, stating that there was a very great need for new playgrounds at the present time. The council, however, felt it could not see its way clear to purchase the six-acre lot at the corner of Victoria Avenue and Falkland Road, which was offered to the municipality recently for the sum of $15,000. The owners will be advised to this effect immediately. Councillor Means told the meeting that shortly a public park space for games and other recreation would be available in the Willows exhibition grounds. This would largely benefit the residents of the northern part of the municipality.

Municipal Clerk R. F. Bland, who is also treasurer of the municipality, submitted his periodical finance report. Total receipts for the first nine months of the year, the report said, were $279,892. Payments total $285, 887. At present there are about $11,000 in outstanding accounts, including $2,400 for school board extraordinary expenses.

Mr. Bland also submitted his report on the recent annual meeting of the Union of B.C. Municipalities held at Kelowna, at which he was one of Oak Bay's delegates.
The council ordered a note of appreciation sent to the Victoria fire department for prompt assistance in responding to the alarm turned in on Tuesday for the fire at the Beach Hotel. A grant of $25 to the Victoria firemen's benevolent fund was also voted at the meeting.

tario, and had resided in Vancouver

vived by four sisters, Mrs. Frank

C. D. Mann, of 1117 Princess Avenue; Mrs. W. H. McCall, of Victoria, Ont., and Mrs. Crandell, of Chicago.

Sack of Wood
Lands Chinese
In Prison Cell

Mah Kim Woo, Chinese, needed some wood for his stove, so he went down to the Cameron Wood and Coal Company yard on Chatham Street and filled a sack.

When asked by employees at the yard what he was doing he replied:

"Excuse please."

For the next month Mah Kim Woo will not need wood for his fire. He was sentenced to jail for this period by Magistrate George Jay in City Police Court this morning. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of theft, but was convicted.
Accused had less than 50 cents worth of wood in the sack, a witness said.

JOBLESS SEEK SOUP KITCHEN
FROM COUNCIL

Unemployed Meet in Rain Today and Will See Mayor
Again; Not Enough Work

Criticism Against Only Married Men Being Employed;
Single Men Want Chance

Victoria's jobless will ask the City Council for a soup kitchen if it cannot provide work with which to furnish the men with money to buy food. The unemployed decided to make this request at an open-air meeting, held in spite of the rain in the field across from the Government Employment office to-day. A request will also be made that the city furnish groceries for men who are unable to secure work and have hatched quarters at which they can cook food.

Coupled with the resolution was a protest against the small amount of work the city has furnished as relief.
Single men said that only fifty men had been employed for five and one-half days and those who were single were barred from participating in it.
Nearly 1,000 men were still unemployed and unable to provide for the necessities of life, one speaker stated. Out of every three men given work, one should be unmarried, it was suggested.

"If the city can not find work for single men, it should immediately start a soup kitchen to give the poor beggars something to eat," stated one speaker.
The suggestion was also made that the city should issue tickets for existing eating houses.

A resolution to determine whether or not members of the Victoria Unemployed Association desired membership tickets, at 10 cents apiece, to raise funds for the association, was left over until the next meeting.

The question of men who had money securing work while those without a penny were forced to go without was brought up by one of the speakers.
Preference be given to those who were altogether "broke." The discussion of the matter lapsed.

Further Development of Club Foretold By Speakers at Special Dinner Function

Confidence in the continued growth of the local Y.M.C.A. Swimming Club was expressed by speaking at the club's dinner in the dining-room of Terry's drug store yesterday, when the active members and a few guests gathered.
The club is looking steadily at all gales at which he was asked to officiate.

Mr. McKinnon referred to the work of the club committee, saying it was the duty of the club to develop the club in the exhibition given recently at the International Convention here, and stated that he and his assistants had received splendid co-operation from the clubmen.

FINEST ASSOCIATION HAS KNOWN

W. S. Maguire also added his tribute to the club, saying it was the finest he had come into contact with during his work with the local Y.M.C.A.

Similar views were expressed by H.
B. Witter, who congratulated the officers and members on the excellent way in which the club was handled.
Allan Stewart, chairman, explained that the members were indirectly the guests of the club since the club had furnished the funds for the gathering in recognition of the Y.M.
C.A.'s work during the convention.

Following the addresses, the gathering enjoyed dancing and community games. Miss Florence Collins furnished the music. In appreciation of her playing the club presented her with a box of chocolates.
Those who attended the function were: Louise Newham, Kay Carter,

ELECTION OFFER CONSIDERED BY PREMIER TOLMIE

North Vancouver Liberals
Seek Completion of P.G.E.
Immediately

Will Not Oppose Conservative in By-election If Tolmie Agrees

Consideration is being given by Premier Tolmie to the offer of the North Vancouver Liberal nominating convention to offer no opposition in the by-election to fill the seat made vacant through Hon. Ian MacKenzie's election to the Federal House if the Tolmie Government will proceed at once with construction of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway into North Vancouver and Prince George.

The offer was before Premier Tolmie this morning. He has had a busy morning and have not had time to give an answer. I notice that I have a week to reply and I will give the matter my consideration," he remarked.

Vancouver, Oct. 17.—If the Tolmie Government will proceed at once with construction of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway into North Vancouver and Prince George it will not face the opposition of a Liberal candidate in the pending North Vancouver by-election, otherwise, it was decided by a Liberal nominating convention here yesterday evening to entice a candidate pledged to support that policy to the bitter end.
C. E. Hopper, district Liberal leader, definitely committed the Liberal party of British Columbia to the line of immediate completion of the line at both ends.

He believed that policy to be in the best economic interests of the province as a whole and in the interests of the North Vancouver constituency.
On his suggestion the convention decided to defer nominating for one week. Instead, the gathering adopted a resolution inviting Premier Tolmie to declare the government's policy.

If a statement pledging immediate procedure with construction to both North Vancouver and Prince George is not forthcoming, the convention is to be summoned in a week to nominate a candidate supporting Mr. Pattullo's announcement policy.

If the desired assurance is received from the Premier, Mr. Pattullo expressed the belief that the Liberal party should not ask North Vancouver to place itself in opposition to that course of action.

"We shall have plenty of time later on to discuss the general record of the Tolmie administration," said Mr. Pat-tullo, "and one member more or less will not upset the existing balance of the House."

Vancouver, Oct. 17.—"I do not see how the government can announce its policy on the P.G.E. for the purpose of a by-election," said Jack Louie, Conservative nominee for North Vancouver, when asked for a statement this morning.
"I have not conferred recently with Premier Tolmie or any other member of the government on the specific question of the P.G.E., simply because I know the government is pursuing an orderly policy in that matter and I did not expect any announcement until the Legislature meets," remarked Mr. Louie.
"The surveys which the government regarded as essential to a decision are now practically complete. I have always believed that the Premier would make the first announcement to the House and not in a by-election."

Minister Rapped For Statement of Municipal Finance

Report of Municipal Union Taxation Committee Finds Budget Speech Did Not Present Proper Picture of Financial Conditions; Reformation of Whole Fiscal System of Municipalities Urged.

Claiming that a true picture of municipal finances had not been presented to the Legislature in the last budget speech and scoring the "dubious" practice of terming hospital and pension expenditures as grants to municipalities, the report brought down by the special taxation committee of the Union of B.C. Municipalities at the recent Kelowna convention urges a reformation of the municipal fiscal system of the province.

The report was presented by R. F. Blandy, Municipal Clerk of Oak Bay, and secretary of the committee, who is an expert on municipal taxation matters. Mr. Blandy was accorded a special vote of thanks by the convention for his work in preparing the statement which gives an excellent idea of the financial relationships between municipalities and the provincial government.

The report goes into detail to explain where the Minister of Finance was wrong in presenting a picture of the municipalities in a prosperous financial condition. The full text follows:

"At last year's convention a special committee of seven members was appointed to deal with the question of excessive taxation of real property in the municipalities, with particular reference to the provision of revenue for education. The committee consisted of Messrs. Bridgman (chairman), Pilkington, Reid, Lambert, Anson, Lowe and Blandy (secretary). The committee was assisted by representatives of the School Trustees Association in the persons of Messrs. Grant, Carr, Feden and Perry.

"The joint-committee held three meetings and met the Minister of highways. But the financial benefits of the Highway Act do not apply to cities of 2,000 inhabitants and more, and five of the districts (Oak Bay, Squamish, Glenora, Fraser Mills and Ladang) received no present benefit. The net result is that a population of 375,000 people, or seventy-five per cent of the taxpayers in the municipalities receive no benefit under the revised highway policy. Instead of receiving relief, their taxes are actually increased through the additional gasoline tax. The cities receiving no direct benefit include Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster, Nanaimo, North Vancouver, Chilliwack, Cranbrook, Fernie, Kamloops, Kelowna, Ladang, Nelson, Prince George, Prince Rupert, Revelstoke, Rossland, Trail and Vernon.

"The Legislature has taken the general view that the financial necessities of the Province are greater than those of the municipalities, and has therefore encroached upon the liquor profits and motor licenses assigned to the municipalities. While the financial problems of the Province are admittedly troublesome, it is difficult to regard with complacency any reduction in our grants. Our revenues will be curtailed by about $370,000 for 1930, and this loss will increase from year to year, as we are to be barred from participation in future increases in motor license and liquor revenue.

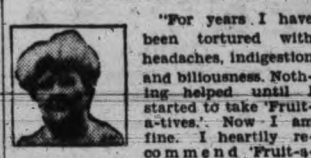

TOP-HEAVY
"The Finance Minister declared in his budget speech that 'the government is impressed with the general demand among municipal leaders and some taxpayers for some measure of relief for the property-owners, who up to the present have borne the largest share of the municipal taxation burden.' He also stated: 'Our whole taxation system, indeed, particularly in the municipalities, is alarmingly top-heavy. . . . This condition, we believe, can be remedied and must be remedied.'

"These admissions are in line with what the union has been urging for years. But the remedy offered appears to be a further increase in municipal taxation. For the Minister also used these words: 'The municipalities are in better shape now than they have been for many years back. In the past eight years the aggregate municipal debt has increased by only $12,000,000, despite many reductions in assessed value of land, the value of taxable property has increased by $80,000,000, receipts from public utilities have risen from $2,310,000 in 1919 to $3,980,000, or an increase of $1,670,000, and arrears in sinking funds have decreased from $5,591,000 in 1920 to $1,460,000, or a reduction in arrears of $4,131,000. It is evident from the foregoing that the time has come for a readjustment of financial relations between the government and the municipalities.'

"Some relief from school taxation will be afforded to farmers and owners of large blocks of wild land. But while these persons benefit, the great majority of those who are smarting under heavy municipal taxation receive no relief.

GASOLINE TAX
"The Province will also take over a greater part of the cost of certain whole picture of municipal finance as presented by the government in the budget speech can hardly be accepted as accurate.

"In the year 1929 alone, municipal debt increased by an additional $12,000,000; the increase for 1930 is $24,000,000 in nine years. This information was, or should have been, available to the Minister when preparing his speech. The fact that fifty per cent of the value of improvements is exempt from taxation and other facts were overlooked. The increase in taxable assessment of the fifty-five municipalities existing in 1920 and 1929 was actually less than $1,000,000, and not $80,000,000. But Vancouver showed an increase of $22,000,000, so that the other fifty-eight municipalities showed a loss of $31,000,000 in taxable assessment. While financial conditions differ from one municipality to another, and there is always some danger in handling statistics in the mass, it is interesting to note that no less than thirty-six municipalities showed decreases in their assessment, and five others showed gains of less than ten per cent. In the face of these decreases, taxation on land has been steadily increasing, notwithstanding the relief afforded by the government grants of 1921.

INCREASED OPERATING COSTS
"While receipts from utilities did increase by $1,670,000, the Minister omitted to mention that the cost of operating these utilities increased by about $1,350,000.

"The reduction in sinking fund shortages was due primarily to the flotation of $3,500,000 refunding debentures by the city of Victoria, and not to the government grants.

"Elsewhere the Minister spoke of a reduction of some $9,600,000 in tax arrears, but these arrears for the most part were merely transferred to sale lands abandoned by their owners. The latter information was not mentioned.

PENSION GRANTS
"The Legislature was also told that 'grants to municipalities' increased from $1,400,000 in 1919 to $5,500,000 in 1929. But the latter figure includes some $2,000,000 which never reached the municipalities, as the tax on money was paid out to hospitals, and for mothers' pensions and old age pensions. It has been alleged on behalf of the government that the municipalities' expenditure was reduced by an exactly similar amount. This argument does not appear to be supported by fact. The principle of labeling municipal expenditures as 'grants to municipalities' is purely unsound, and calculated to give false impressions to members of the Legislature and the general public. It may be added that this dubious practice of including hospital and pension expenditures among the municipal grants was not initiated by the present Finance Minister, but by his predecessors in office.

"There is also a remarkable omission from the budget speech. In the comparative data on the revenue-cost of education in the municipalities were not mentioned. This cost, according to the municipal inspector's report, rose from $6,626 in 1919 to no less than $7,704,897 in 1929. Deducting the provincial grants for salaries the increase was $3,344,974. The grants from liquor profits and the betting tax amounted to $1,397,807 in 1929. The startling fact emerges that the municipal taxpayer now has to taxation for school purposes each year over and above any relief afforded by the grants mentioned. This has to be done in the face of a relatively diminished assessment, and the numerous calls for additional expenditure on other municipal functions. In other words the need for municipal relief is much greater to-day than in 1920.

DIVERGENCE OF OPINION
"In matters financial there is always a tendency towards divergence of opinion between the Province and the municipalities. Perhaps the union makes unreasonable demands on the Province from time to time, and overlooks the possibility of removing some of the injustices in our taxation methods under existing powers. But, from what has been said above, it is open to question whether the provincial authorities have been altogether fair in their presentation of the financial position of the municipalities, and in their attitude to the municipal taxpayer.

"Possibly the union accepts the dictum of the Finance Minister that the time has come to readjust our financial relations in favor of the Province. Possibly the union will accept the theory that the municipal taxpayer is not overburdened at all, and can easily stand more taxation to make good the reduction in our grants.

REFORM SYSTEM
"But if the union feels that the Legislature has not received a true picture of our finances, that the recent changes in financial policy are not generally acceptable, and that ways and means must be found to protect the equities in our real property from further exploitation, it may become advisable to merge the school question in the broader question of reforming our fiscal system and to urge the government by the strongest means within our power to grapple with the existing situation."

PROSPERITY Starts with Thrift!
The Prosperity of a Nation has its Foundation laid in Economy. Castrol, the product of an all-British firm, offers the Utmost Efficiency . . . with Thrift!

MILLIONS and millions of dollars in cold, hard-earned cash are wasted each year by Canadians in the purchase of inferior oils. These oils, which are mainly products of foreign companies and imported into Canada, do not provide proper lubrication and require frequent changes.

That is why such an oil costs a few cents less per quart than Castrol. But actual cost of lubrication is determined not by price per quart or per gallon—but cost per mile!

Castrol gives considerably longer mileage than these imported oils produced by foreign companies. It is not only the most economical lubricant the thrifty motorist can use . . . but it offers the utmost protection to the motor under all conditions.

ANTI-SUBMARINE WAR DESCRIBED BY NAVAL MAN

Com. G. B. Spicer-Simson, D.S.O., Tells of Combatting of Menace During Great War

The submarine was used effectively for the first time during the Great War, although there is a record of its use in the American Civil War, when a Confederate submarine sank a Union frigate in Hampton Roads, but in so doing went to its own destruction. This was one of the many interesting facts mentioned by Commander G. B. Spicer-Simson, D.S.O., in the course of an intensely interesting address on "Anti-Submarine Warfare," given under the auspices of the National Council of Education at the Shrine Hall yesterday evening. Major Cuthbert Holmes acted as chairman.

Prevention of attack by submarine was practically impossible, according to the speaker, but during the war great strides were made in the means of detecting and destroying this great menace. The German submarine campaign created a serious situation with regard to the food supplies for Great Britain, both for the civilian population and for its troops, and hastened the discovery of the hydrophone, for detecting the presence of submarines, and the use of depth charges for their destruction.

DEPT. CHARGES SUCCESSFUL

Of the different systems used to combat submarine warfare, Commander Spicer-Simson stated that the depth charges had proved the most successful. Of the 205 enemy submarines destroyed, eighty-seven met disaster by this means.

The immensity of the task undertaken by the British naval forces in the anti-submarine campaign was illustrated by the speaker in his statement that Britain's shipping losses during the Great War were over 7,000,000 tons, of 61 per cent of the total loss. The speaker told his audience that 11,500 British seamen paid the supreme sacrifice, which was 60 per cent of the total number of sailors lost during hostilities.

FASTEST SUBMARINE

Commander Spicer-Simson illustrated his address with a series of very fine slides, loaned by the admiralty, depicting the various types of mines used by the Germans, also the types of submarines used by the British during the war. These latter included pictures of the "K" class, the fastest type of undersea craft, capable of making twenty-two knots on the surface and thirteen knots beneath it. These submarines were constructed so that their floats could be put out in seventeen seconds and their boilers made cold in one minute, thus expediting their speedy submergence.

Pictures of the "K" class, which took the first Canadian contingent to Great Britain, of the minesweepers and their devices for catching mines, including the paravanes, together with slides depicting the mystery ships, to whose crews the speaker paid a warm tribute, were among the many interesting slides with which this distinguished officer illustrated his very able address.

TAFT DELAYED BY EASTERLY PACIFIC GALE

Will Not Reach Victoria From the Orient Until About 9 o'Clock This Evening

The same gale which delayed the Empress of Japan four hours this morning is holding the American Mail liner President Taft at sea, and she will not reach the William Head quarantine station until between 7 and 8 o'clock this evening, according to wireless advices reaching Victoria this morning from Capt. K. A. Ahlin, master of the liner.

The skipper said in his message that a strong easterly gale was sweeping over his ship and that he was forced to cut the speed early this morning. If he arrives at the quarantine station as he expects to-night he should bring his ship alongside the Rithet piers about 9.30 o'clock. The Taft will remain here until 2.30 o'clock in the morning, when she will proceed to Seattle.

Among the passengers aboard the Taft this voyage are Mrs. C. Alderger, a prominent society woman of Los Angeles, who is en route to her home in the south after a trip to the Orient; J. George Baetjer, who will leave the liner here to-night and proceed to his home in the east over Canadian lines, accompanied by Mrs. Baetjer, Chan Moy, en route to Philadelphia, where he will join his father in business; Miss Alice Davis, daughter of the Governor-General of the Philippine Islands, returning to Washington, D.C., for a visit; F. C. Fox, prominent business man of Seattle, returning to his home there after a business trip to the Far East with Mrs. Fox and his family; Moy Gwong, a Chinese minister en route to Chicago; Edwin Neville, returning from Japan where he has been serving in the United States Ambassador's office and Leon Sibirakoff, well-known Russian opera singer, en route to Paris, after a successful tour of the Orient.

The American Mail liner President Pierce was loading last-minute cargo in Seattle to-day, preparatory to sailing to-morrow morning for the Orient.

DELAYED AT SEA BY STRONG EASTERLY GALES

which ran into strong easterly gales as she approached the west coast of Vancouver Island early this morning on her way to Victoria from the Orient. Capt. K. A. Ahlin, master of the ship, has advised the local office of his company that he will be unable to bring his ship into the William Head quarantine station until between 7 and 8 o'clock this evening.

JAPAN DOCKS FROM ORIENT

Weather Spoils Chances For Another Record; Fair List of Passengers Aboard

Delayed by stiff headwinds as she approached the west coast of the Island early this morning, it was 1 o'clock this afternoon before the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan was fast alongside the Rithet piers from the Philippine Islands, China and Japan. At first it was thought the Japan might cut an hour off the speed record she made on her maiden voyage in August, but weather conditions last night and this morning spoiled any chances of this. Capt. Samuel Robinson, brought the Japan to-day.

There were 467 passengers in all classes aboard the flagship this voyage. Of these sixty were in the first cabin forty in the second, thirty-four in the third and 933 in the steerage. Several passengers from all classes left the liner here and transferred to the Princess Marguerite at 3.45 o'clock this afternoon for Seattle en route to various parts of the United States.

Cargo aboard the Japan was over 100 tons of perishable overland cargo, while cargo to east by water through the Panama Canal amounted to 170 tons for New York, and twenty tons of Philadelphia, including 215 packages of raw and manufactured silk.

Around the Docks

FROM ALASKA

The steamer Princess Louise arrived in Vancouver this morning from Prince Rupert and Alaska. She will not come to Victoria this trip but will sail again from Vancouver on Monday night for the North. The trips which the Princess Louise was to have taken to Alaska before November 12, have been cancelled and the Princess Louise will maintain this service until November 12 when the Princess Norah will be commissioned for the winter months. The Norah will arrive here to-morrow from the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

LEAVES PORT

After taking on 600,000 feet of Vancouver Island lumber here, the Japanese freighter Shunten Maru left the Rithet piers late yesterday afternoon for New Westminster where she will complete her cargo for Far East ports. She will pass by Victoria early in the week on her way across the Pacific.

ORIENT-BOUND

Bound for China, Japan and the Philippine Islands, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia, looking sleek and spry after her long lay-over at the Bremerton Naval dockyard, arrived at the Rithet piers at 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from Vancouver. At 6.15 o'clock she pulled away from the dock and turned toward Race Rocks en route to the open ocean.

TO LOAD LUMBER

The only ship listed to load lumber here within the next week is the Japanese freighter Hakubusan Maru which King Brothers expect at the Ogden Point piers on Tuesday of next week. She will load 600,000 feet of lumber for the Orient. She is now at Vancouver and New Westminster.

EMPIRE PILOT

Capt. George Roberts, Vancouver pilot, was in Victoria this morning, having brought the Empress of Russia down from Vancouver yesterday. He went out to the Wind Head quarantine station at noon to-day to meet the inbound Empress of Japan and bring her into Victoria and then to Vancouver.

LEAVES SYDNEY

Bound for Victoria and Vancouver with passengers and cargo, the Canadian-Australasian motorliner Aorangi sailed from Sydney yesterday. After calls at Auckland, Suva and Honolulu she is scheduled to arrive here on Friday, November 7.

COMING-NORTH

The British freighter, bound for Victoria or Vancouver to load grain, passed through the Panama Canal on Wednesday, according to reports received here from the south. They were the steamers Rutherford, bound from Rotterdam to Vancouver in ballast and the Carleton, bound from Cork to British Columbia ports.

IN DRYDOCK

Being repaired for service on the triangle run, relieving the Princess Marguerite, the Princess Charlotte is now in the Government drydock at Esquimalt for seasonal overhaul by Yarrow's Limited. The Princess Adelaide is also at the Yarrow plant for minor repairs.

TWO EUROPE BOATS DOCK HERE TO-DAY

Narenta Came in This Morning and Modavia Is Due Late This Afternoon

Through running into fog just west of Race Rocks as she was coming up the Straits this morning, the Holland-America freighter Narenta was delayed a little in arriving at the Rithet piers from Europe, by way of the Panama Canal and California ports. For Victoria the Modavia has seventy-five tons of general cargo. She will probably be here until midnight before proceeding to Vancouver.

Another boat from Europe was due this afternoon. The Donaldson freighter Modavia was expected off Race Rocks at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the United Kingdom, by way of the Panama Canal and California ports. For Victoria the Modavia has seventy-five tons of general cargo. She will probably be here until midnight before proceeding to Vancouver.

STRONG WINDS DELAYED RUTH Coast Liner Unable to Dock Until This Morning

Meeting stiff winds, sweeping in from the north, the Pacific Steamship Company's liner Ruth Alexander was delayed at sea on her north-bound voyage from California ports, and was unable to dock at the Rithet piers here until 1.30 o'clock this morning. All yesterday the Ruth was buffeted about by big swells, caused by these strong winds, and her speed was cut several knots.

The Ruth remained over at the Rithet docks until 7 o'clock this morning when she proceeded to Seattle. Passengers for Victoria disembarked after 6 o'clock. Several of these proceeded to Vancouver aboard the steamer Rutherford, the morning departure of the Princess Kathleen early this afternoon.

Among the passengers who left the liner here were Mrs. J. A. McKenna, returning to her home in Victoria after a four months' visit in New York and California; Miss Beatrice Barber, Mrs. M. R. Barker, W. G. Baird, Miss G. Chambers, Miss Emily Channing, Mrs. C. H. Clark, Miss M. J. Clement, Father Leonard Derrah, Mrs. E. A. Fishman, Miss Elsie Horne, Miss Patricia Halliday, Mrs. Mabel Hadden, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin R. Hall, J. T. Hicks, J. W. Keyes, J. W. Keyes, Mrs. L. E. Kinney, Mrs. M. H. ## TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)
Winnipeg, Oct. 17.—The wheat market continued nervous and somewhat erratic, but within a range of less than two cents today, but actually the market was rather dull, and without any particular feature. During the first period prices advanced about three-quarters of a cent with the cables firmer than during a little buying by seaboard houses, while offerings were on the light side.

After the first demand was satisfied, the market eased off with prices sinking to a fraction under the previous close. On the scale down there was a fine buying for Chicago account, which apparently took the surplus out of the pit, and when earlier sellers started to cover, buying was difficult, and prices were forced up to the high for the day.

There was only a moderate export business worked over night, possibly 500,000 bushels, which included poor business, there being little encouragement from this source.

In the cash market there was a little demand for certain grades, apparently to complete cargoes, but only a small business was passing. There is a small scattered business passing in flour for export, while the domestic demand is showing some improvement.

Bradstreet's weekly shipment for North America was 5,826,000 bushels; Broomhall's agent in Australia now estimates the crop in that country at 200,000,000 bushels, provided present conditions are maintained. Last year's final output was 115,000,000 bushels.

Conditions in Argentina are also very favorable at present. The pool was selling October wheat at 10 1/2 to-day, but otherwise the offerings were not liberal at any time. Winnipeg futures closed 1 1/2 to 1 higher.

Corn market.—There was very little doing in the cash market, either in the futures or the cash market. Prices trend largely governed by swing in leading cable, with offerings light and demand the same. Wheat quiet.

Liverpool due 1/2 to 1/4 higher based on Winnipeg.

WHITNEY N.Y. MARKET LETTER

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

New York, Oct. 17.—Whitney of Wall Street Financial Bureau says: "EXCEPT IRREGULAR MARKET PERFORMANCE"

"Yesterday provided one more of the type of day which the inferences to be drawn are practically neutral in that the fluctuations assumed a meaningless character. If there was anything to be gained from the day's performance it was its indication that we were not to see at this time any further extension of the advance of the previous two days."

"What has happened is that instead of the normal one day covering movement in a declining market, we have seen this same movement enlarged into the second day as a result of the unusual difficulties currently prevailing in the market of short selling. Long lists of stocks carrying daily premiums on their loaning rates are certainly not conducive to anything but a short seller's market, and it is hardly to be expected that what really has happened this week can be traced to anything more than these technical difficulties confronting the short seller. At the same time, a market which will not easily forget at the opening what it is trying to do the night before, and which spends its entire day at prices below the previous day's closing, is certainly not one to be in with long stocks."

"Such days as yesterday also justify the position taken here for weeks, which is that you are better out of it until such time as something more like a real bottom is struck, if for no reason than the desirability of having an established buying power when that bottom comes."

"Whether or not the bottoms of last week are going to hold is still debatable, but if the inability of recent bottoms in commodities to correspondingly hold is any indication, then the market looks lower from here for the time being, without any important rally on the upside to sweeten it up."

"The probabilities of further security liquidation were pointed out yesterday, and while this will undoubtedly take place in well regulated markets, declines, orderly or otherwise, are not what you want to go through with long stocks. I can only repeat the advice to again allow a day or two of irregularity to pass while you are waiting for something more like a real test on last week's lows than we have had up to the present."

"The reduction in Brokers' Loans of $133,000,000 is a valuable addition to the progress of the whole liquidation programme which this market has been in. It adds another valuable step to the $215,000,000 reduction in member bank security loans, and by reports earlier in the week. At the same time, adhere to the thought that reductions in these two items will have to continue until a total of about a billion dollars has been eliminated which, of course, means more stocks pressing for sale and little incentive from trade centres to create a corresponding amount of buying."

General Motors, General Electric, N.Y. Central, Union Pacific All Break Through

Electric Bond and Share Takes Sudden Fall Along With Cities Service

Industrial Averages Fall Over 9 Points To-day; Rails Also Pounded Hard

New York, Oct. 17.—(Branson, Brown)—At the close of the market this afternoon, the Dow Jones average of thirty industrials stood at 187.31, off 9.25 points for the day; for twenty make up at 141.94, off 2.37 points; and for twenty utilities 68.16, off 3.02 points. Sales for the day totaled 2,549,900 shares.

Call money held at 3 per cent.

Stock leaders went into a spill in the last hour of trading to-day with important issues dropping to new lows all along the board.

After showing comparative resistance to pressure for several weeks, Dupont set out to make up for last time to-day and from 98 crashed through the old low at 95 1/2 and did not hold until it reached 91 1/2.

General Electric broke to a new low at 51 1/2 while Westinghouse tumbled from 113 1/2 to a new low at 104 1/2.

General Motors smashed through 24 1/2, its low for the year, and made a new low of 23 1/2.

Standard Oil of New Jersey fell from 57 to 55 1/2, within one-eighth of its low.

U.S. Steel common dropped from 149 1/2 to 145 1/2, which is within one point of its low.

RAIL LEADERS OFF

New York Central continued to slip, dropping from 141 1/2 to a new low at 137 1/2.

Union Pacific broke through its low of 194 1/2 and reached 186.

COPPERS WEAK AGAIN

International Nickel broke under 17 and Kennecott and Cerro de Pasco were among the coppers to make new lows for the year.

Other issues to make new lows to-day included Studebaker at 24 1/2, Timken at 40, Mack Truck at 45 1/2, Intercontinental at 58 1/2, and General Railway Signal.

UTILITIES BREAK

Electric Bond and Share crashed from 56 1/2 to 54 1/2 and at the close was offered at 53 without bids.

Cities Service came in for heavy selling and dropped to 23 1/2.

SHORTS STOP BUYING

Cessation of short covering together with absence of anything outstanding in the way of constructive news, was responsible for the break getting under way to-day.

Continued unsettlement prevails everywhere, particularly in the oil and sugar markets, and price reductions, which are becoming general.

Weakness in New York Central reflects the decline in traffic, in connection with the strike and the fact that it has been possible to reduce expenses proportionately.

EGGS FIRM

Dealers are quoting country shippers for ungraded, extra 40, firsts 36, seconds 25.

Unicorn Shaping Up Like Big Missouri

Stewart, B.C., Oct. 17.—Though developments on the Unicorn Mining Company's property have not been heralded with the fanfare of publicity accorded other smaller and less promising prospects in the district, yet an interesting situation is developing under the direction of John Hovland and the Unicorn Mining Company. The property is located in the Upper Salmon valley, and in some respects dovetails into the northern end of the Big Missouri. As a whole, the property is at least geologically related, and what may apply to the one may very easily apply to the other.

The portal of No. 3 tunnel of the Unicorn is just north of the Big Missouri boundary and at elevation just under 3,200 feet. Driven north 30 degrees, the tunnel has now reached a depth of about 100 feet from the portal. At a point of 100 feet from the portal the porphyry zone coming through from Big Missouri was first encountered, at 300 feet considerable sulphides were encountered, including a vein of from 2 to 2 1/2 feet wide which shows considerable free gold apparently in an easily accessible gangue and occurrence as the free gold found in the same zone on Big Missouri. This vein, which has a north-south strike, dips slightly to the east.

Winter camps capable of accommodating a small crew of some eight men are being prepared. A blacksmith shop and 150 feet of snow-shed for the tunnel are being completed. Ventilation system have been completed, it being the intention as expressed by John Hovland, manager of the company, to operate throughout the coming winter.

FINE GALENA SHOWING

The winter operating programme calls for the extension of No. 3 tunnel to its objective, the A vein, at a point about 300 feet beyond the present face and at a depth of about 150 feet below the lowest outcrop, which is in the bed of a creek. This vein, which has an east-west strike and width of roughly 50 feet on the surface, has been traced by open cuts and trenches for some 200 feet, and apparently dips south. Besides having a very interesting gold content, some six to seven feet on the foot wall in the cuts seen, is exposed an exceptionally fine showing of galena, which, Mr. Hovland states, gave a return of roughly 400 in all values from molten samples.

Between the A vein and the present face of the tunnel, two other but smaller veins were seen. These are named the E and F veins. Each has an east-west strike, and appears to parallel each other as well as the A vein. Both, as well, are stated to carry interesting values and, like the A vein, will be cut at depth by the extension of the No. 3 tunnel.

The discovery of the 2 1/2-foot vein in the tunnel, in which free gold has been encountered and which has a considerable concentration of ore. This to the interest of the property in so far as its intersection at depth with the E and F veins may disclose a considerable concentration of ore. This would add very materially to the value of the property and be a deciding factor in its future.

Canada Dividends Up $25,000,000, Despite Dullness

A Gray, Parker, manager of the Victoria office of Miller, Court and Gray, is back to-day from Seattle where he was on a short business trip.

"When there is so much pessimism around the bright and cheerful features of the business situation are being overlooked," Mr. Parker said. "For instance, as far as Canada itself is concerned, the business situation is not so bad as it is being made to appear. The first nine months of 1930 distributed approximately $25,000,000 more in dividends than the same period of 1929. So, fundamentally conditions here must be quite sound. This big sum paid in dividends all comes back for reinvestment and into general business."

Grain Movement Heavy at Lakes

Winnipeg, Oct. 17.—Lakehead storage of grain to-day was brought down under the 70,000,000 bushel mark for the first time in weeks. Shipments of more than 9,000,000 bushels down the lake within the last four days has placed the total at 69,915,000 bushels. Almost 4,000 grain cars, however, are en route to the terminals.

Country elevators storage remained almost unchanged at 56,485,000 bushels—34,910,000 on Canadian Pacific and 21,585,000 on Canadian National Lines. Marketing fell off to 1,214,000 bushels, and only 719 cars were loaded in the west. Government elevator storage amounts to 10,739,000 bushels.

Reichstag Victory Seen Far-reaching In Bank Circles

Berlin, Oct. 17.—The election of Paul Loebe as speaker of the new German Reichstag was considered a significant victory for the government over the fascists and the belief prevails in the international banking circles that it will have a far-reaching influence on conditions in Germany and those countries interested in the reparations question.

The outcome of the strike of metal workers in Berlin, which is very disturbing, is awaited with keen interest. Meanwhile, there is general discussion as to whether the German bank rate will be marked up again. At all events the German Reichbank made a flat statement that if the flight of capital persists the rate will be raised, since stiffening of credit through other means would do unwarranted harm to trade in general.

OKANAGAN EASES APPLE PRICES

Vernon, Oct. 17.—Fruit shipping houses are finding that a great change is taking place on the prairies in buying fruits. Formerly many retailers purchased in car lots, now they are buying through the jobbers as they need fruit. This means that the deal is becoming one in which cold storage is taking a larger place. Apples will sell until next June, but they must be stored and the markets must be fed. This is in part due to the changed financial situation, and, in experts' realization by the trade that the old system was wasteful, as few retailers had anything but the most flimsy storage facilities and fruits suffered heavy depreciation.

Price reductions affecting some sizes and grades of McIntosh apples were effective on Monday, October 13. Under the new selling household Macs are to sell for 5 cents; "C" grade 100, or larger, are to sell for 8 1/2 cents; in the same large sizes, 1 1/2, and 1 1/2, are to sell for 1 1/2. Bulk shipments have been suspended.

More Silver Dollars For All Urged As Way to End Slump

Stewart, B.C., Oct. 17.—More silver dollars in the pockets of the people and in the tills of merchants, is the proposal of the Stewart News to end the low price and depression in the silver industry, which Premier Tolmie has passed on to Premier Bennett.

"As the United States and Canada are the two greatest potential traders with the Orient, why in the name of common sense should they await the results of protectionist international negotiations to stimulate the price of silver?" The News says.

"There are in these two countries some 130,000,000 people for whom it is safe to say there is in circulation a like amount of one-dollar bills, if not more. Call in these bills and in their stead issue a more convenient-sized silver dollar, each dollar to contain one ounce of silver, and in each silver coin the value of a dollar, a silver content in proportion as one ounce is to one dollar. Such a margin of safety should be ample. Issue no paper money below that of a $5 bill, and it is safe to say that silver would come back quickly to prices that would enable mines and attendant industries to again operate to capacity. The purchasing power of our own people and those in the Orient would be re-established and a great step forward would have been taken in solving the world's present unemployment."

SOVIET PLOTS IN ROMANIA ARE NIPPED

Canadian Press

Bucharest, Roumania, Oct. 17.—Seventy arrests have been made in a round-up of alleged espionage agents in which, an unofficial report to-day said, many foreigners, including Russians, are believed implicated.

The report said the affair would probably prove to be the most sensational exposure of intrigue in favor of Russia ever made in this country. Its discovery apparently was made by the authorities only today and details have not been disclosed, although it was admitted the arrests had been effected and that others were to follow.

T.N.T. BELIEVED USED TO BLOW UP FACTORY

Los Angeles, Oct. 17.—Two police chemists and an expert, Rec Welch and Ray Pinker, reported to-day preliminary examination of evidence taken from the blasted Garment Capital Building indicated the probable presence of T.N.T. as the explosive. They said twenty-four hours would be required to complete their scientific tests, but both expressed the same opinion as to the explosive used. More than forty persons were injured in the blast this morning.

VICTOR M. DAFOE, VANCOUVER, DIES

Vancouver, Oct. 17.—Death ended the career of one of Vancouver's old-time business men yesterday evening, when Victor Morden Dafoe, an active figure on the waterfront here for more than thirty-three years, died at his home on Alberni Street.

Coming to Vancouver in 1897, Mr. Dafoe established on Coal Harbor the boat building and marine gas engine business which still bears his name. Expansion of the business necessitated its removal in 1910 to its present site at the foot of Rogers Street.

Born in Belleville, Ont. in 1875, he came to Vancouver in 1891 and after serving his time as an architect he established his own business.

Mine Institute To Consider B.C. Silver Prices

At the forthcoming joint meeting of the B.C. division of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and of the Mining Association of British Columbia, an active figure on the waterfront here, Thursday and Friday, November 19 to 21 next, a programme has been arranged to allow for major attention to be devoted to the silver situation which has been the many grave economic problems confronting the mining industry at the present time, and involving such questions as stocks and prices of metals, marketing conditions and production in relation to consumption.

Consideration in particular, will be given to the silver situation which will be introduced in an address by Professor W. A. Carruthers of the University of British Columbia, while there will also be special sessions at which the problems and the future possibilities of the base metal industries both of the province and of the Dominion will be discussed, following the presentation of a paper on this theme by R. C. Rowe, editor of the Canadian Mining Journal. George G. Bateman, secretary of the Ontario Mining Association is also expected to contribute to the symposium on the subject, while the Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Mines for the Dominion

DAILY MARKET CHART

The mortgages are chiefly on properties in Ontario and Manitoba.

The company's funds consist of its share capital and reserve, amounting to $1,000,000 and $1,100,000 respectively. The dividend is 5 per cent. for contingencies, $25,000 dividend payable and $21,099 balance in profit and loss account; in addition, it has raised money by the sale of debentures and by deposits, the total liabilities to the public at the end of 1929 being $2,144,450.

The net income of the company for the year ended 1929, was $1,000,000, and there was net addition of $10,000 to surplus, as a result of earnings in excess of dividends in this period. The market trend of the stock is shown by the chart.

ANTI-LIQUOR TIDE GOES OUT, CARGO RULE FORGETS TO RETURN HERE TO STAY

Stewart, B.C., Oct. 17.—Tide Lake has lately been acting up to its name in grand style, but this time when the tide went out it forgot to come back in again. The Stewart News says: "Mr. Scott, who recently returned from a trip to that part of the district, reports that last week there were barely more than three acres of water in the basin instead of the usual lake between three and four miles long. Mr. Scott gives it as his opinion that the outlet into the Bonanza River was deepened and widened by the recent torrential rains—that the lake just naturally flowed away."

"Tide Lake gets its name from the fact that its water level changes so frequently, falling or rising a matter of twenty-five feet and more in short intervals. Last week it was quite high, but this summer it has dropped and dropped until last week there was virtually no lake left."

Vancouver, Oct. 17.—There is small chance of the law which prohibits clearance of liquor cargoes from Canada to the United States will be repealed. In the opinion of Hon. E. B. Ryckman, Minister of National Revenue and Acting Minister of Finance, who arrived here to-day.

"I heard the law criticized and I heard it condemned when Parliament passed it," said the minister in answer to a question, "but it is law now and will be enforced. I do not think it likely it will be repealed."

Mr. Ryckman believes the prairie farmers are convinced of the need of a tariff.

"I think people now take the view that if a tariff is necessary it is better to settle down and establish the best one possible. The general attitude is a contrast to that evidenced in other years," said the minister.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS

Los Angeles, Oct. 17.—The state carried to the California Supreme Court to-day its battle for affirmation of the conviction of Alexander Pantages, who is under a one-to-five-year San Quentin prison sentence for assaulting Eunice Pringle, young co-ed dancer. The action was taken in the filing with the high court of a petition for review of the appellate court's recent order of a new trial for the theatre magnate.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 17.—The captain and two members of the crew of the schooner Catherine G. Scott of Mobile, Ala. were lost at sea when the vessel foundered off Cape Hatteras, four survivors of the wreck reported upon arrival here to-day aboard the Standard Oil Tanker Alro, which rescued them.

Bombay, India, Oct. 17.—Oman Sobhani, new president of the All-India National Congress, was arrested this morning. Other arrests included Secretary Kersandas of the boycott committee, and M. Memnerally, dictator of the Youth League.

London, Oct. 17.—Rifflemen all over the world will learn with regret of the death to-day of Major Sir Richard Barnett, sixty-seven, one of the most familiar figures on the ranges at Bisley Camp. He took a chill during the last National Rifle Association meet three days before he died. Sir Richard was a keen sportsman and a keen shooter.

Washington, Oct. 17.—A decision to admit five Canadian hockey players, members of the Chicago Black Hawks, to this country under bond and for short periods, was announced late to-day by the Labor Department.

Argentine Shipping Gold to New York

New York, Oct. 17.—Arrangements by the Bank of the Nation of Argentina to ship $5,000,000 in gold to the Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company on the steamer Eastern Prince October 24, were announced to-day.

Wall Street looked upon the consignments as probably the first of a series of shipments of gold to New York to support the peso, and believed it largely that from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 will be shipped to the United States before the end of the year.

Magnesia Best For Acid Indigestion

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who used to suffer from gas, sourness, bloating and indigestion have now given up disagreeable diets and the use of harmful artificial digestants. Instead they eat their favorite, and formerly forbidden foods, after meals take a little Risedated Magnesia—either tablets or powder—in some water. They have no stomach trouble.

Most so-called indigestion is merely "too much acid" in the stomach. Food acids and ferments before it can be digested. Gas forms. The stomach needs an alkaline to give safe, certain and speedy relief.

Risedated Magnesia instantly neutralizes excess stomach acids, sweetens the food contents, ends gas, bloating and quickly stops stomach pain. Then digestion becomes easy. It is a safe, pleasant and convenient method to use, and druggists everywhere sell it on a positive guarantee of satisfactory relief or money back. Try a test package on this plan, and enjoy your meals with no more fear of indigestion. (Adv.)

TWO MEN ARE HUNTED AFTER MAN KILLED

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—The dragnet police have set for two men who are wanted by the Ottawa police for the murder of a young Ottawa basketball player last night. The police are searching for the two men who were seen in the vicinity of the fatal shooting. The police are offering a reward for information leading to the arrest of the two men.

WARRANTS FOR ARREST OF SUSPECTS

Warrants for the arrest of the suspects—Austin Cassidy, thirty-one, and John Chernetsky, twenty-four—were issued this afternoon. They were recently released from the penitentiary, the former after serving five years for attempting to hold up two Ottawa drug stores on the same night in quest of the narcotics to which he was addicted. The term Chernetsky completed was one of two years for shopbreaking.

CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC CO., LIMITED

1928 By NEA Service Inc. RUTH DEWEY GROVES "WHEN A GIRL LOVES" LOVE FOR TWO

"You mean... just Mr. Beals and me?" Jerry stammered, unable to believe that it could be so. "That's right, Miss Ray. You and the boy. We've got to get up to that second act before we take the show back to New York. It can't hold for the big idea in the third. Clevie man, Harrell, very clever."

Jerry knew, of course, that he referred to what the entire company was still talking about, the way Harrell had led the audience to believe they were in for an evening of disappointment before springing that garden pool scene on them.

"But I am..." Jerry paused. She was about to say "inexperienced," when she thought of Evelyn and what her friend would say to her if she talked herself out of a chance like this.

Mr. Weinert, however, seemed to read her mind. "Sure, you'd stop alone," he said frankly, "but Jack can see you through—if you work hard enough. We'll start rehearsing you together in Boston to-morrow afternoon. By the way," he added as Jerry started to speak, "you're driving up to New York with Al aren't you?"

Jerry nodded, knowing he meant Al. "Well, see that you get to Boston in time for rehearsal," the producer went on soberly. "There will be some complaints about putting you in ahead of girls who dance better than you do. If you start being temperamental what take you out."

Jerry flinched. She knew what the other girls would say. Up went her chin. "I'll make good," she declared warmly, "but I don't want to get by on anything except my ability."

Mr. Weinert smiled. "Don't get excited," he cautioned. "Don't I know? When Al gets through with you even Laurel herself won't have much on your stuff. Maybe I'd better tell you that Al hasn't had anything to do with your promotion," he continued more seriously. "We believe we can depend on you, Miss Ray, and all that anybody says to the contrary, clean living counts for as much on the stage as anywhere else."

Jerry's fierceness disappeared. "I won't be late to-morrow," she said earnestly.

"Then tuck yourself in early to-night like a good little girl so you won't over-sleep," Mr. Weinert warned her and got up to walk to the door with her. Jerry was too excited to appreciate the attention.

She rushed back to her hotel to tell Evelyn the news and to hurry with her unfinished packing.

Evelyn was just as enthusiastic as Jerry. They had to talk over for ten minutes before they could think of anything else. Suddenly Evelyn looked at her watch.

"I've just time to make the train," she exclaimed, jumping off the bed to grab her hat.

"It can't be so late," Jerry said. "Al hasn't come yet and he promised to drive you to the station."

"I'll take a cab," Evelyn returned, rushing to gather up her umbrellas and handbag.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

BRIDGE

By WM. E. MCKENNEY
Secretary, American Bridge League

Following are additional examples applying the rule of eleven. As was the case yesterday, South is the declarer at no trump, North the dummy. West is the opening leader and the card led is in parenthesis. East is the partner of the leader.

Example No. 3
Allowing partner to hold trick:
N—Dummy
K-6-4

W—Leader
Q-10-8-7
S—Declarer
A-4-3-2

West opens the seven spot. Applying the rule of eleven, seven from eleven leaves four. There is one in the dummy and three in East's hand, therefore the declarer holds no card higher than the seven spot. If dummy plays a small card, East should play the five spot, allowing his partner to hold the trick. The king will be captured on the next lead of the same suit by West.

Example No. 4
Refusing to play high third hand.
N—Dummy
K-8-5

W—Leader
J-9-7-6
S—Declarer
A-10-5

West's opening is the six spot. Six from eleven leaves five. There are two in the dummy and two in the East hand, therefore East knows the declarer holds one card higher than the six. If dummy now plays the eight, East should not play the ace, but should play the ten, which would force the declarer's queen, and in this manner the declarer would get only one trick, while if East were to go up with the ace, he knows that he is absolutely setting a trick in dummy for the declarer, and if the declarer does happen to hold the queen, he would be setting two tricks, as would be the case in this example.

Example No. 5
Where it works to the advantage of the declarer.
N—Dummy
K-4-6

W—Leader
Q-9-7-5
S—Declarer
10-3-2

West opens the five spot. Dummy should play the six spot which forces East's ten. The declarer now wins with the ace and can safely take the finesse, as by applying the rule of eleven, five from eleven leaves six, he knows that, as there are three in dummy and declarer holds two and the one that East held was forced on the first trick, the queen is in the West hand.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly Fools Red Fox

(Copyright, 1930.)

Uncle Wiggly, carrying a new feather duster, which he had bought for Nurse Jane Puzzy Puzzy, was hopping about the fields on his way home to his hollow stump bungalow. Now and then the old rabbit gentleman would stop when he got to the top of a little hill and look over the meadow and toward the woods.

"I didn't see him yet, but I think he is coming!" said Uncle Wiggly, talking to himself and smiling as he looked at the feather duster.

Then he hopped on to the next hill and looked again.

"There he comes!" exclaimed the rabbit. "There's Reddy Fox and I must go slow to give him a chance to catch up to me. Then I'll fool him. Ha! Ha! How I shall fool him!"

Motion was always exhilarating to her, she said to Alister, and he promised to take her up in his plane when he got back from the cruise. His promise brought Dan Harvey to Jerry's mind.

"Teach me to steer," she begged suddenly. She did not want to think of Dan.

When they returned to shore, somewhat self-sprayed and wind-blown, she had succeeded in crowding the welcome memory out of her mind.

She had been doing that all week, telling herself that what she felt for Dan was a transitory infatuation, something she mustn't encourage if she wanted to go on growing fonder of Alister, as she seemed to be doing.

They lunched heartily at their leisure and at 3 they were off for Philadelphia.

Jerry could not down a feeling of guilt. When she promised Mr. Weinert to make good there had been no thought in her mind of doing the least thing to jeopardize her future.

But Alister was in a very good mood. He was pleased with Jerry, pleased that she was to have a real chance with Mr. Weinert, and elated that she had consented to go to Philadelphia with him.

Almost without being willing to admit it, he was building up something that might help him in case he ever seriously considered marrying her. She would make a good impression on the people she was to meet to-night, he felt, and he wanted an ally at court where his mother reigned.

"There had been a change in Jerry Littlecruties that would have made him unwilling to introduce her to certain of his friends had disappeared through association with Evelyn Starr. Jerry was acquiring a manner as well as manners.

"Oh, that's all right," said the bunny politely as he wiggled the feather duster tail and tickled the Red Fox on his nose. "We all make mistakes. That's somebody has said, is why they put rubbers on the end of lead pencils. But no harm is done. So I'll be on my way."

"Dear me! What a mistake I made!" growled Red Fox. "I say," he called after the hopping rabbit, "you haven't seen Uncle Wiggly, by any chance, have you?"

"Oh, yes, I saw him this morning," said Mr. Longears. Which was true enough for he had looked in the glass to see if his pink nose was on straight, and he saw himself. "Well, better luck next time!" chuckled the bunny when he hopped to his bungalow with his feather duster tail. Red Fox shook his head wonderingly. And if the electric fan will blow some gas from the top balcony into a nickel, to make it look like fifty cents, I'll tell you the next about Uncle Wiggly's rubber hop.

"When We Come to Analyze Charm in a Girl We Find That It Is Mostly Made Up of Three Things: Tact, Appreciation, Sympathy," Finds Dorothy Dix

A CORRESPONDENT asks: What constitutes charm in a girl? No one can answer that question definitely. It is the riddle of the Sphinx. For it is the same thing that makes that great-battered, rough figure brooding over the sands of the desert more intriguing, more fascinating than the most beautiful statue in any art gallery.

If we say that charm in a girl is personality—that it is what we slantly describe as "it"—we merely substitute one mystery for another, for no one can put his finger on just that particular intangible quality in a woman that attracts us to her as the magnet draws the needle.

It isn't beauty alone, for often we turn the living picture to the wall and cherish some woman who is hardly more than a chromo, yet good looks are certainly part of a girl's charm. It isn't intelligence alone, for we all know high-browed ladies from whose intellectual conversation we flee as from a pestilence, while we seek the society of other women who, as the phrase goes, would never set the river on fire. Yet certainly dulness has no place in a woman's repertoire of charms.

And assuredly goodness or badness has nothing to do with a woman's charm, for there are female saints who set our teeth on edge and others whom we would follow into any sort of a cult. And it is charm that gives the vampire their power, for without that they would work their sorceries in vain.

As near as we can define charm it is the come-hither look in a woman's eyes, but what lights that we do not know. We only know that if she has that she may be plain and even lumpy in figure, she may lack brilliance and wit. She may not even be unselfish or amiable, and yet she will always have men running after her. She may marry as often as she pleases, and she will even be popular with women.

So far as the outward earmarks of charm in a girl go, they consist in her making herself as attractive as she can. She can do this, first, by developing to their fullest extent such good looks as nature has bestowed upon her. She can keep herself well groomed and learn how to comb her hair and make up her complexion, and she can dress so as to make herself easy on the eye because none of us distinguish between a woman and her clothes. If she presents a pleasing appearance we call her pretty and let it go at that, especially when she is young, for youth in itself is beauty.

No girl could have such a superhuman charm that it would function through dirt or disorder. No frump or slattern could ever charm us. Nor could any bore. But herein develops another of the inexplicable phenomena of charm, that those who have it never weary us, no matter if they babble along as meaninglessly as a brook. We will even listen to their symptoms and the details of their operation and ask for more.

Then it is part of a girl's charm to be able to do things, to be adaptable, to fit in everywhere. She must be able to dance well, to play a good game of bridge, to swim, to play tennis and golf so as to be one of the crowd. Nobody finds a girl charming who is a spoiled sport. No man would want to sit out a dance with even a siren, or be tolled off by a hostess to sit on the rocks with even a Lorelei because she was afraid of the water.

When we speak of charming Mary Brown or charming Susie Smith we mean, in a general way, that they are regular girls who are good looking and well dressed and well-mannered, and who know how to get along with people and who always fit in the picture and are in a way the life of the party.

And when we come to analyze this charm in a girl I think that we find it is mostly made up of three things—tact, appreciation and sympathy. All of us are vain. All of us have our little peculiarities and prejudices, and we are just naturally attracted to those people who respect our "keep-off-the-grass" signs, and who neatly sidestep our little eccentricities. We adore having our fur smoothed down the right way and we purr under the hand that does it.

If you will observe you will see that the woman who has a reputation for being charming has a sixth sense that enables her to divine the subjects that irritate us, and to anticipate our likes and dislikes. She never descends to an unsuccessful man about what a go-getter some other man is. She never tells the man who comes and takes her out in a flivver about how grand a Rolls-Royce rides. She never gets into arguments or disputes and, somehow, somehow, she always manages to turn the spotlight on us and make us feel great and glorious and that she is filled with admiration for us.

Then the charming girl is always appreciative. We love to do things for her because she is grateful and because she lets us see that we have made her happy. She is generous in her thanks and doesn't take every favor as less than her due.

Above all, a charming woman is sympathetic. She enters into our joys and sorrows and rejoices with us when we rejoice and weeps with us when we weep. She is never too self-centred to enter into our lives and become part of them.

And so perhaps the secret of charm is just kindness and sweetness and love. DOROTHY DIX.

Make Two-minute Flights With Special Tractor Model Designed by R. Farquharson

Fine Little Miniature Shows Good Endurance When Properly Constructed. Delicate Parts Require Careful Building and Assembling.

Here is an indoor and outdoor tractor designed by Ross Farquharson, Canadian model aircraft champion, that should get builders a flight of two minutes or more. The materials you will need are: One sheet 1-15 inch balsa ten inches long, for wing, spars and ribs. Two pieces 1/4 inch by 1/4 inch by 15 inches for fuselage. One piece of bamboo. One sheet tissue. One piece balsa 10 inches by 1/4 inch by 1/4 inch for propeller. Thirty-two inches 1/4 inch by 1-32 inches rubber. Cement and banana oil. Three feet .016 music wire, for wire parts. One small thrust bearing. Get your long nose pliers, knife, razor blade and sandpaper ready, then get to work.

First of all, read the instructions through, and make sure you understand how to build every part. WING CONSTRUCTION—Slice four pieces 3-32 inches by 1-16 inches from the 1-15 inch flat piece, and cut them off to exactly 9/16 inches. These are your wing spars. Now cut off 7 pieces 3 inches by 1-16 inch square, which will be used as ribs. The wing is to be assembled in two halves, so cement only the three outer ribs in each half of the wing. The centre rib will be put in later. Be sure the two halves are square, then spread cement on the spar ends that you intend to have in the middle, and press firmly together. Put blocks 1 1/2 inches high under each tip so as to make a dihedral angle, and then let the wing dry for a half hour. After it is dry, put in the middle rib, and cement the wing clips directly over it, on to the spars. Make the clips accurately, or else they will warp the wing out of shape when you put it on the fuselage. Now complete the job by papering the wing in two pieces, beginning at the middle rib, and papering outwards, on each half.

Take one of your 15-inch fuselage sticks, and smooth off the edges with the sandpaper. Make the two wire fittings; rear hook, and can, and cement them on in their respective places. You will notice the can is of the open-end type, which makes stringing the rubber through it easier. Cement on the thrust bearing, and round off the wood at the front of the fuselage.

RUDDER—Make the rudder out of pieces 1-32 inch by 1-16 inch, and paper it. Cement it on the fuselage, as in the "detail," and leave it dry for about ten minutes. If you wish you may put it slightly so the ship will circle to the right. Split a piece of bamboo to 1-32 inches square, and cement it in a notch under the rear hook. Square it up with the fuselage, so that the rudder is at right angles with your table. Now paint it with banana oil, and lay it on a piece of tissue. Paint next one inch on the fuselage, and two inches on the rudder, and stick the tissue on. Trim the paper off, as the drawing shows. There is no thread outline.

Now comes the propeller. You will have no trouble if you follow the manual. A good indoor propeller should be translucent, that is, so that you may see light through it. Make sure the propeller shaft is at right angles to the propeller or else your ship will have a nasty wobble in the air.

TESTING OUT—Here comes the real sport now! Slip a couple of washers on the propeller shaft, and insert it in the thrust bearing. Tie a square knot in your rubber motor, and string it up. Clip the wing on at a point where the fuselage seems to balance, and glide it to the floor. If it stalls, move the wing backwards; if it dives, move it up. When you have a good glide, give the propeller about 500 turns, and "let 'er go." It is not too far from two minutes of over, you've probably made the parts too heavy. In that case, try making it again, for no model builder ever made a record on his first attempt.

Send in your best results to "The Times" and tell us how you like these plans and instructions.

NEW HOLIDAY PLAN IN ITALY
Rome, Oct. 17.—The Council of Ministers yesterday approved Premier Mussolini's bill to make February 11, the anniversary of the signing of the Lateran treaties between Italy and the Vatican, a legal holiday in place of September 20, anniversary of the entry into Rome by Italian troops in 1870.

The Council also approved March 23 as the anniversary of the founding of Fascism, thus making it a civil holiday. The Duce, in his capacity as Minister of the Interior, obtained approval of a bill regulating the use of methylinated alcohol and forbidding the sale of drinks containing it.

Foreign Minister Grandi has approved the draft of a royal decree approving the treaty of arbitration with the United States signed in Washington, April 19, 1928.

The Duce announced he had taken under his department of the Interior the function of theatrical censorship, the Premier having the final word.

ENGLISH POETESS ISSUES OF FIRST LECTURE

Dr. G. C. Sedgewick Talks on Christina Rossetti to University Extension Society

G. A. A. Hebdon Elected President at First Meeting of Winter Series

Before an audience whose numbers were somewhat limited by bad weather, Dr. G. C. Sedgewick, of the University of British Columbia, opened the University Extension Society's winter series of lectures yesterday evening with a deeply interesting review of the life, character and work of Christina Rossetti—an address which again brought to the front the speaker's great talent for literary criticism and interpretation.

In the absence through sickness of G. A. A. Hebdon, the newly elected president of the society, A. B. Saunders, retiring president, acted as chairman of the meeting which was held in the Girls' Central School. Dr. Sedgewick, referred to the pleasure with which the speaker's personal visit to Victoria was anticipated by followers of the University Extension Society, and hoped that he would again be on hand to inaugurate next season's lectures.

GREATEST WOMAN POET
Introducing Christina Rossetti, who he thought had always been underestimated and was now under-read, Dr. Sedgewick asserted that she was undoubtedly the greatest writer of poetry among English women. "Much profounder though less wide in her approach than Elizabeth Barrett Browning," regarded by many as England's supreme poetess. Her themes—death, the longing for rest, the vanity of vanities—are inclined perhaps to tire the student who attempts to read her through as he would the ever-varying Shakespeare, the speaker suggested. Grant the student of her subject matter, the restriction of her range, no matter how deep it be! Within her chosen circle, however, she has achieved a mastery of language and a spiritual questioning bringing down upon herself the charge of morbidly, which, Dr. Sedgewick was certain, she would deny with sincerity. "An artist, if he is sincere, can never be morbid; the morbidity is in the reader."

HER CENTENARY
To explain Christina Rossetti's attitude to life, it is natural to turn to her times and to the beliefs which the people of her day held. The lecturer was very concise and clear in describing the writer's early life and the intellectual movements around her. Miss Rossetti was born in 1830—making the present year a centenary one. She was brought up out of contact with other children in a household frequented by Italian refugees, and with a family breathing the culture of Italy. In such circumstances the shy, sensitive, sensitive and glitter of her personality, Dante Gabriel Rossetti, and, in the opinion of the speaker, finally reached a greater depth than he.

That Christina Rossetti became a part of the Oxford Movement accounts a good deal for the subject matter of her poetry. It was a time, Dr. Sedgewick said, when life and thought were dominated by a sense of the person could be mentally alive without being shadowed, as were Tennyson and Arnold, with the decline in faith. Her poetry, much of which is hymnody, was deeply religious, and was raised by the time's prevailing despair. There was one aspect of Christina Rossetti's work the expression of which, in the opinion of Dr. Sedgewick, passed in its intensity anything of a like nature ever written by her sex; this was the bitterness of a woman whose womanhood had been a failure. She had twice fallen deeply in love, and who, unable to reconcile her religious beliefs with the men of her choice, had twice refused to marry. The speaker termed it "the thwarting of a passionate nature that deliberately strains itself, as through a sieve, into asceticism." This strain, he said, is all her poetry, and especially in the pieces which Dr. Sedgewick read, outstanding among which were "After Death."

Her language is the language of separation from man. The diction of Christina Rossetti, like that of the great Dante-Alighieri, she greatly admired—very simple, it is a simplicity, the speaker pointed out, not striven after. It agrees with the diction that the language of greatest passion is the language of the living room—the words of every-day being, as with Shakespeare's "out life is a short dream." "The language of passion is the language of the living room—the words of every-day being, as with Shakespeare's 'out life is a short dream.'"

The poems that Dr. Sedgewick read showed careful selection and fine appreciation of Christina Rossetti's characteristics. He was heartily applauded at the conclusion of his speech.

During the evening officers for the year were appointed. The following people will direct the University Extension Society for 1930-31: President, G. A. A. Hebdon; vice-president, Miss J. A. Cain; secretary, J. T. Stott; executive committee, Mrs. J. E. Young, Mrs. F. C. Hart, Miss Clay, P. H. Elliott, E. S. Parr, Mrs. D. W. E. Pierce and A. B. Sanders.

COLWOOD
The Colwood Women's Institute met in the institute room on Wednesday afternoon, Miss Kelly, president, presiding. The music committee reported against purchase of a new piano at present. The cemetery committee asked help in remedying defects and relieving the maintenance of the graves. The committee also reported on the "Rural School Teachers." Messdames W. and E. Ashari gave interesting accounts of their birthplaces. Miss Selma daisies with autumn foliage decorated the tea table, which was presided over by Mrs. C. Goodall and Mrs. M. Parker.

Winners at five hundred Wednesday night at the weekly card party were Mrs. R. B. Murray and Bert Parker, while Mrs. A. G. Tyler and T. Parker had low scores.

AT THE THEATRES

FACE COMEDY IS CAPITOL FEATURE WITH CLEVER CAST

"Let's Go Native," which opened a three-day run at the Capitol Theatre yesterday, starts out with the very well-known action of a gang of movers and shovers taking the furniture out of the luxurious apartment of Jeanette MacDonald, modiste, because she has failed to pay her rent. Eugene Pallette is the boss of the gang. As one would expect, there is action aplenty when they start stumbling over rugs and spilling chairs downstairs.

WILD ANIMALS OF AFRICA ASSEMBLED FOR BIG PICTURE

One of the most amusing sequences in the famous adventure film "Ingagi," coming to the Coliseum Theatre next week, is that which portrays what might be termed an animal convention in Africa. First, a number of queer-looking monkeys with crooked tails stalk ludicrously through the forest glade and finally arrive at a weird valley, dotted with outcropping rocks and stunted trees. One huge ape hops upon a large rock as if he were chairman of a convention. Suddenly a loud trumpeting announces the nearby presence of elephants. Immediately the convention is in disorder and the apes scatter right and left, while the giraffes lope at high speed for safety.

COLUMBIA PICTURE FILMED OUTDOORS ON NATURAL STAGE

TENSE MOMENTS IN GREAT WAR DRAMA AT THE PLAYHOUSE

Eight minutes of tense waiting and trying to forget about the danger they will be in going into by talking of apples and snail shells was, and cabbages and kings." And then Lieut. Osborne takes another look at his watch, puts down his pipe, hating to leave it while it's got a nice glow on the top, takes up his gun and tells young Lieut. Raleigh, going on his first raid, "I think we'd better go." This is another of the tense moments in the all-dialogue, Tiffany-Gainsborough production of R. C. Sheriff's play, "Journey's End," showing to-day at the Playhouse Theatre.

FOOTBALL SEQUENCE IN "FLORODORA GIRL" AMUSES AUDIENCES

Football, as played by the catch-as-catch-can rules of 1900 when nose-guards, shoulder pads and other formidable protective accessories were in vogue, was a most amusing sight, as revived by members of the University of Southern California football squad of scenes in "The Florodora Girl," which is now being shown at the Columbia Theatre.

SARGON IS POWERFUL IN VIGORATING TONIC

Increase Your Bodily Vigor—Eat With a Keen, Hearty Appetite—Enjoy a New Kind of Sound, Refreshing Sleep and Get a Renewed Zest for Living Through the Aid of This New and Modern Compound.

The instant and phenomenal success of Sargon is easily explained. Its effect is almost immediate. Right from the first few doses people who are suffering from lowered vitality, loss of appetite, poor assimilation and elimination begin to feel its stimulating tonic effects. Thousands of toxic, run-down men and women who have taken it report that it seems to pick them right up and put them on their feet.

It is not only a powerful reconstructive tonic, designed to impart tone and strength to the entire system, but it is a constitutional treatment as well, and exerts a tremendous influence upon the processes of assimilation and elimination. It also contains other ingredients of recognized therapeutic value which are valuable for their influence upon the appetite and digestion.

If you do not wake up in the mornings feeling rested and refreshed and ready for a good hearty breakfast; if you are not brim full of energy and ready for a good day's work, you are not enjoying the blessings of health that should be yours.

It is not natural for people to simply drag through life, never knowing what it is to enjoy a well day. Nature never intended it so profit by the experience of others—Increase your bodily vigor, eat with a keen, hearty appetite, enjoy a new kind of sound, refreshing sleep and get a new grip on life through the aid of this new and modern compound.

While Sargon is called a "tonic," it is for want of a better word. It must not be confused with old-fashioned tonics, limited in their action to a purely stimulative effect. When Sargon increases the appetite and zest for liv-

ENGLISH ACTRESS OPPOSITE ARLISS AT THE DOMINION

It was a chance visit to a performance of "Peter Pan" in London that made Betty Lawford decide at the advanced age of five, that she would seek a career on the stage. Though Miss Lawford, who is now playing the ingenue lead in the George Arliss starring vehicle, "Old English," now at Dominion Theatre, did not actually go on the stage until she was sixteen, it was almost inevitable that she should have a theatrical career since she is of the third generation of a theatrical family.

Her father, Ernest Lawford, and her mother, Janet Slater, are both well known on the English stage, while her grandfather, C. D. Slater, was one of the best known theatrical managers in London.

SAY DIAMOND SHOT FOR NOT KEEPING WORD

New York Gangsters Claim Racketeer Spent Brewery Hush Money

New York, Oct. 17.—An underworld story that the shooting of Jack "Legs" Diamond last Sunday was in reprisal for the gangster's alleged retention of $50,000 paid him last August to obtain protection for a Brooklyn brewery is under investigation.

District Attorney Crane said he had been informed "Waxie" Gordon, Broadway hotel owner and reputed beer racketeer, had given Diamond the $50,000. Detectives are looking for Gordon.

Diamond, the story goes, went to Europe on the money and the brewery was raided while he was gone. On his return "Legs" was reported to have been notified he would have to pay up before noon last Sunday. Just about noon, Crane pointed out, Diamond was shot and critically wounded by gunmen in his room in the Hotel Monticello.

Harry Drescher, a former prohibition agent and bail bondsman, who was a guest at the hotel Monticello Sunday, surrendered yesterday at the District Attorney's office after police had sought him on the strength of a statement by John H. Ginsberg, the hotel manager, that the wounded gangster had called for Drescher after the shooting.

Drescher, his attorney said, went to Diamond's room and asked Diamond who had shot him, but Diamond refused to tell. Then, the lawyer said, Drescher left because "he didn't want to get mixed up in it."

St. Hyacinthe, Que., Oct. 17.—Osborne Royle, alias Ray Courtland, formerly of Hamilton, Ont., was hanged in the jail yard here this morning as the convicted murderer of Mark Ward, aged farmer of Richelieu, last January. Rev. Canon Almond, of Montreal, Anglican chaplain, was with Royle until the end, praying with the condemned man in his cell. Royle murmured prayers in the last moments.

Ward was murdered in his farmhouse January 8. The farmer had been strangled in his bedroom and strung on the head with a blunt instrument. The old man, who lived alone, had taken in a man and a woman to work for him a few weeks previously. Police traced the couple to Montreal and arrested Royle and a woman companion. There was no charge against the woman.
